Score Die In Storms In East And The South

Estimate Five Thousand Are Left Homeless

Flood Dangers Are Diminished

Some Prepare Early Return To Their Homes

Freezing temperatures in the Ohio valley lessened the immediate threat of serious flood last night as sub-freezing weather and windstorms in the south and east left at least 20 dead.

Three were dead from flood waters in West Virginia and two died of exposure in Kentucky. West Virginia refugees, totaling 1,500, prepared to return to their homes as some streams receded.

Relief In Sight

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4—(AP)—The rich valley of the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Louisville, whose residents still carry vivid memory of 1937's record flood, saw relief from the threat of a new inundation tonight as freezing temperatures stemmed the flow of tributaries.

Predictions of fair weather throughout West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky brought signs of flood abatement but the cold weather added to the suffering of thousands of residents. West Virginia listed three known dead and upward of 1,500 homeless.

Landslides and high water blocked roads there and in Kentucky, where Mayor W. K. Evans of Middlesboro reported two aged men died of exposure in the flood area.

In Washington the Red Cross estimated more than 5,000 families were homeless because of the floods.

The agency said food and clothing were being rushed to all stricken areas, and that Red Cross field workers were making arrangements to house the victims.

Noted Figure In Industry Dies

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Feb. 4—(AP)—Sir Henri Deterding, who rose from poverty to become one of the richest and most powerful of the world's industrialists, died this afternoon at his villa here.

The Netherlands-born oil magnate and "Rockefeller of Europe" was 72 years old.

Sir Henri, possessor of a personal fortune estimated at between $150,000,000 and $200,000,000, retired in 1937 from the director-generalship of the monster Royal Dutch Petroleum company.

He was the guiding genius in the development of the far flung company which at the time of his retirement embraced a group of 200 companies with 40,000 employes.

Sir Henri was a frequent winter visitor to St. Moritz.

He was slightly indisposed today and a doctor was called to his villa.

"There is nothing much the matter with me," he laughingly remarked.

The doctor was leaving the villa grounds when Sir Henri suffered a heart seizure.

Before the doctor could reach Sir Henri's bedroom the world famed oil magnate was dead.

Sir Henri, thrice married, is survived by two sons and one daughter by his first marriage and two daughters by the second. His first wife died, a divorce dissolved his second marriage and he married a 38-year-old secretary in 1936.

Oklahoma Orders Pay To The Aged

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 4—(AP)—The Oklahoma Public Welfare commission ordered today March payments for old age pensions, aid to dependent children and needy blind drastically reduced unless the federal social security board resumes its grants within the next three days.

The commission sent to Washington a resolution estimating $3.000,000 in federal grants had been withheld by the federal board since last March because of overloaded rolls and a fight over adoption of a merit system and other requirements of the board for reinstatement.

Rotary To Meet At The First M. E. Church

The Sedalia Rotary club will meet Monday noon at the First M. E. church instead of at Bothwell Hotel. The change was made to accommodate the Master Plumbers' convention. Several students of Mrs. W. I. Thomas will participate in the program. Emil Landmann will give a classification talk on abstracts and titles.

Clamp Martial Law In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Feb. 4—(AP)—The government tonight clamped martial law on Hungary to combat political violence and empowered special courts to impose the death penalty by hanging within 48 hours after arrest in certain cases.

This action was prompted by a bomb explosion last night in Budapest's largest synagogue which caused injury of about 20 persons.

It was the first martial law in Hungary since 1931.

Sales Tax Tokens Used For Telephone Calls

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Feb. 4 (AP)—The British Columbia Telephone Company sent in a potato sack full of Washington state sales tax tokens for redemption, collected $34.90 for them and wrote off a loss of $4,372.60.

Customers had used them in the 25-cent pay telephone slot. The slots are being changed.

Eggs Hurled At Italian Envoys

Many Arrests At Panama Due Disturbance

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 4 (AP)—Anti-Italian demonstrators pelted with eggs and vegetables today an automobile bearing the Italian minister and an Italian admiral and aides on an official visit to President Dr. Juan Demostenes Arosmena.

The party had to return to the admiral's visiting flagship to change clothing before carrying out the call.

The disturbance occurred about noon as the automobile carrying Minister Italo Capanni and Admiral Eduardo Somigli passed Santa Ana Plaza on the way to the presidential palace. It lasted between 15 and 20 minutes.

Somigli is commander of the Italian Seventh Naval Division, consisting of the cruisers Eugenio Di Savoia and Emanuele Filberto Duca D'Aosta, on a world cruise to demonstrate Italian naval strength.

Police reinforcements arrived shortly after the disturbance started and began gathering in the participants. Originally the demonstrators were a small group numbering between 30 and 50 but increased as store and office workers left their jobs for lunch.

As fast as the disturbers could be arrested and arraigned they were sentenced each to 10 days in jail.

Police reserves were confined to their barracks for emergency duty.

During the night, stickers bearing such phrases as "death to Mussolini; viva Roosevelt" and "down with Franco and the slayers of women and children," were pasted on billboards, walls, curbs and telephone poles.

Ask Secrecy Be Lifted On Conference

Clark Desires All Versions Be Related

Some Opinions Still In Conflict

President Says Foreign Policy Is Not Changed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4—(AP)—Senator Clark (D-Mo.), added his support today to a Republican demand that Senate military committeemen be permitted to tell their versions of what President Roosevelt said when he discussed foreign policies with them at the White House Tuesday.

The Missourian said he was in sympathy with such a proposal, made by Senator Bridges (R-N. H.), after President Roosevelt yesterday told the press things he had said—and had not said—and enunciated a 4-point foreign policy.

Senator Gurney (R-S. D.), also said he was "absolutely in accord" with Bridges' demand, but Senator Johnson (D-Colo.), observed he thought the whole discussion was "besides the point now."

The President swore the committeemen to secrecy, but, as inevitably happens in Washington, varying accounts of what he said leaked out.

One of these was that Mr. Roosevelt had asserted America's frontier was the river Rhine; another that its frontier lay in France.

Conflict of Opinion

The chief executive flatly branded these reports "a deliberate lie" and said some legislators and newspaper owners were deliberately misrepresenting his viewpoint on foreign affairs.

He asserted his foreign policy had not changed and would not be changed. This policy, he said, included opposition to entangling alliances, maintenance of world trade, sympathy for every effort to reduce armaments, and the peaceful maintenance of political, economic and social independence of nations.

It was clear today there was a conflict of opinion among some committee members as to whether this press conference statement

Maxium Temperature Saturday 50 Degrees

After several days of weather hovering near or below the freezing mark, Sedalia's temperature Saturday moved upward to a maximum of 50 degrees above zero at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

A minimum of 20 degrees was registered at 1:40 a. m. By 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon the mercury was at a moderate 43 degrees, according to the Sedalia weather bureau.

The wind was from the south, and the day was clear.

Prospects Good For Upturn Of Business In Spring

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A moderate upturn in business this spring was forecast by an overwhelming majority of noted economists in a national poll completed today by the Associated Press.

A similar poll published six months ago accurately predicted the December business upturn high, and significantly showed indecision over the length of the recent recovery.

The economists, chosen to reflect various shades of political and economic views, and to supply geographical, agricultural, financial and government cross sections, again showed marked uncertainty. Considered collectively—as to the duration of the newly predicted more modest recovery movement.

Six months ago most of those who responded attributed the then forthcoming upward trend largely to government spending, but today they showed divergence of opinion on that subject.

Many thought increasing government debt is deterring private investment; others said they feared marked curtailment of government spending would prove sharply deflationary.

Analysis of Replies

Few anticipated a 1939 increase well above 1936-37 levels.

Other predictions determinted by majority analysis of replies:

The housing program is a leading factor indictaing recovery, and automobile production outlook is impressive.

A major European war is not likely now.

Re-armament orders probably will prove a modestly favorable factor in U. S. economy in 1939.

Decisive changes in the domestic political situation are not expected in the near future.

Farm prospects are somewhat improved.

Inventories have been reduced a bit further.

Highlights In Comment

The relationships between prices, costs and wages is disturbing.

Highlights of replies (in some instances paraphrased for brevity) follow:

Louis H. Bean department of agriculture, Wash., D. C.; recovery, industrial production and employment on a higher basis than 1934—1937 is likely only if: 1. Federal and heavy industry at least equals 1934-37. 2. Continued expansion of housing activity; 3. Increase in public utilities and railroads expenditures; 4. Increased foreign demand for wheat, cotton, re-armament supplies.

Virgil Jordan, president, National Industrial Conference Board, (an organization chiefly supported by big industries), New York:

"Assuming that the American economic system is not subjected to further damage by the domestic and foreign policies of government employes, business activity will probably increase moderately during this year and the average level will be higher than in 1938, but I do not expect recovery for the ten-year depression during the next two years."

Dale Yoder, University of Minnesota, likewise said he "forecast no significant business improvement in the next two years."

Night In Prison For Legislators

FORT MADISON, Ia., Feb. 4—(AP)—Twenty-three intrepid Iowa legislators, braving the stigma of a "prison record," chose to sleep behind the cold steel bars of Iowa state prison last night, and when "released" today appeared none the worse for their experience.

Four of them slept in "death row" where condemned murderers await execution.

"It was a lot more quiet than the hotel (where he stays in Des Moines)," said Rep. J. F. Miller of Humboldt, Ia., one of those who spent the night in that grim cell block.

"Of course we got a thrill out of it—that's what we did it for."

"The bed was nice and soft, and I don't think any of us had any trouble getting to sleep. I slept fine."

Warden Glenn C. Haynes, who entertained the solons on their junket inspection, said all the "guests" he talked to expressed a "thrill" at the experience.

McKittrick To Enter Inquiry

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 4 (AP)—Attorney General Roy McKittrick said tonight he would be in Kansas City Monday with "a couple of assistants" to participate in the grand jury investigation of crime ordered by Circuit Judge Allen C. Southern.

"I haven't decided when I shall go or which of my assistants I will take with me," he said. "I'l have a couple of them with me, however."

It was just one week ago tonight that the attorney general acted to re-enter the Kansas City crime probe. He had withdrawn earlier in the week when Judge Southern asked him to name a special prosecutor not a member of his staff.

Services of J. E. Taylor, chief assistant attorney general, and J. W. Buffington, another member of McKittrick's staff had been approved Monday by Judge Southern a few minutes before a stop order for the grand jury, obtained by Prosecutor W. W. Graves of Jackson county was issued by the state supreme court. Graves' application for a writ of prohibition was denied by the supreme court Friday and the investigation was reopened today.

Suffers Cuts When Thrown Off Horse

Walter Beal, of Beaman, received a cut lip and bruises and scratches about the face Friday afternoon when the horse which he was riding while rounding up some cattle stumbled and fell throwing him to the ground.

He was taken to the Bothwell hospital where he received medical attention.

Regular Meet By Council Monday

The City council well meet in regular session Monday night, at which time an ordinance, providing for a stop and go light at Broadway and Massachusetts avenue, will be read for the first time. This ordinance has been prepared at the request of members of the American Problems class of Smith-Cotton high school, which school is located on that corner.

The council will pass upon the following applications: Sedalia Packing Company for wholesale beer; Pacific Cafe, liquor by the drink; McFarland & Robinson Drug store, package liquor; Bothwell hotel, liquor by the drink; Kueck Distributing Company, wholesale beer; Nehi Company, wholesale beer; Evans, Green Pastures, liquor by the drink; Wenner Brothers Drug store, package liquor; McMullin and Whitaker, wholesale liquor and beer; Emery Herrick, retail 5 per cent beer.

Honor Court For Boy Scouts On Monday

Friends Invited To Event At Court House

The annual Boy Scout Court of Honor will be held Monday, February 6 in the assembly room of the court house at 7:30 p. m. Judge Dimmitt Hoffman will be in charge. Scoutmasters, council members, commissioners, troop committeemen, scouts, parents and friends of scouting are urged to attend the big Court of Honor.

A Court of Honor of this type is held only on anniversary week and a fine program is being arranged by Leo Noland, district commissioner.

The following awards, that will be presented, have been passed during November, December and January.

First Class

Chas. Beckham, Bobbie Gene Deel, Ernest Wolfel, Chas. Cotterman, T. J. Cannon, Alfred Paxton, J. B. Woodward, Wayne Cook, Buddy Wasson, Judson Banks.

Extols Liberal Pensions Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee heard the General Welfare Federation's plan for $30 to $60 pensions for the aged extolled today as a means of eliminating all unemployment.

Arthur L. Johnson, executive secretary of the federation and formerly an official of the rival Townsend old age pension organization, told the committee, too, it would not cost the government a cent.

The plan proposes that pensions be financed by a two per cent gross income tax. Johnson said this would permit giving everyone over 60 years of age a pension, estimating at the same time the annual cost would range from $2,880,000,000 to $7,200,000,000, depending on the number of beneficiaries and the size of the pensions.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.) commented the figuring was "haywire," but that by Johnson's own figures the federal tax burden would be doubled.

"On the contrary," said Johnson, "It won't cost the federal government a cent. This system carries its own freight."

"But it comes out of the pockets of the people," insisted Cooper.

Escaped Youths Captured Here

Three hours and thirty-five minutes were not enjoyed so much by two sixteen-year-old boys who escaped from the Missouri Training school at Boonville Saturday night. They were captured in the Missouri-Kansas-Texas Railroad yards at 9:35 o'clock while riding on number 75, a freight train passing through Sedalia.

The boys, James King, 16, of St. Louis and Steve Zachula, 16, of Carthage, departed from the institution about 6 o'clock.

The boys were riding between the cars on the bumpers and King stepped on a coupling and narrowly escaped losing his foot when it was caught. He suffered only a slight skinned place on the foot.

Both were taken to police headquarters by the police officers where they were questioned and later placed in the county jail to be held until officials from the training school arrive this morning.

Great Britain Makes Fight On Terrorism

Raids Made On I. R. A., Houses In Belfast

Claim Bombing Plots Revealed

Large Scale Campaign To Quell Outrages

LONDON, Feb. 4—(AP)—The Houses of Parliament were closed to the public today for the first time since the World war as a precaution while Britain sought to suppress the wave of terrorism attributed to the outlawed Irish Republican army.

The Sunday Dispatch reported raids on I. R. A. houses in Belfast resulted in discovery of plans to blow up Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, the House of Commons and the Bank of England.

The newspaper's report, which lacked official confirmation from any source, said the raids also uncovered details of a plot to assassinate British politicians and high police officials.

The seized documents were flown immediately to London, the Sunday Dispatch said, and officials of the British Home Office and Scotland Yard conferred on protective measures.

Authorities intensified their search for hidden supplies of explosives and investigated illegal purchases of chemicals believed to have been used in bombing outrages.

Police systematically combed Irish sections of London.

Officials in Belfast kept well-known members of the Irish Republican army under close observation and inspected arriving and departing passengers.

Co-Operating Closely

The governments of Great Britain, Ireland and Northern Ireland were co-operating closely in a large scale campaign to stamp out the outrages which began January 16 with a series of eight explosions in England and Northern

Hundred Years of Lutheranism

The romance of one hundred years of Lutheranism will be illustrated in moving pictures tonight at the regular service of the St. Paul Lutheran church, Broadway and Massachusetts avenue, at 7:30 o'clock. The picture "The Call of The Cross," will be a sound motion picture.

Reverend Herman H. Heidebreder, pastor of the church, announced the program is part of a celebration of the Lutheran church centennial being celebrated the first part of this year.

It will show scenes of the Lutherans coming to the United States many years ago, landing at New Orleans and later coming into Missouri.

Has Attack After Told of Blaze

Joy R. Cotterman, well-known Sedalian, suffered a heart attack Saturday afternoon while in the Cole Brothers store on South Ohio avenue. His condition, although serious, is showing much improvement at the Bothwell hospital where he was taken in the McLaughlin ambulance.

Mr. Cotterman had stopped in the store and was talking to Miss Mabel Bassett, when Miss Bassett remarked to him about his home being on fire. Mr. Cotterman toppled over a second later.

The Cotterman home, 620 West Fourth street, had caught fire and Mrs. Cotterman who is employed at the Cole store had been called home, and upon learning of her husband's condition returned immediately to the store and accompanied him to the hospital.

About $150 damage resulted to the dwelling and contents, from fire and smoke. The fire started beneath the flooring of the first floor in the basement near the furnace. The house was filled with smoke which did the greater part of the damage.

The fire was at 1:06 o'clock in the afternoon.

Prompt Action For Aged Aid

Assembly To Meet Federal Requirements

Rep. E. W. Couey of the Missouri general assembly was home Saturday for the weekend and was besieged with questions as to when checks for the aged would be forthcoming under provisions of the Social Security act.

This he was unable to answer definitely, but he declared everything was being done to meet with corrective legislation necessary to secure federal aid, without which federal funds would not be available.

Mr. Couey stated that a meeting of the Senate committee would be held Monday night to prepare for complying with the requirements of the federal government and that he was confident both the Senate and House would act as promptly as possible to meet the issue.

It is the purpose to have the amendments to previous legislation on social security be explicit and so formulated, Mr. Couey says, that there will be no hitch in the securing of federal funds when such is enacted, and which, he assures, will be shortly. The legislation will contain an emergency clause making it effective as soon as signed by Governor Lloyd Stark. It will likely be at least a week before final action is taken.

Some have propounded the query as to whether payment, when made, will be for two months and this Mr. Couey was unable to answer as he has no direct information from the federal social security authorities as to that contingency. He was confident, however, an endeavor would be made for such.

A. L. Pringle, Retiring, With New Shops Since Opening

A. L. Pringle, general erecting foreman at the Missouri Pacific shops, retired Thursday. He was the only remaining employe, who went to work at the new shops when the first engine came in to be overhauled. It was a 3600 class locomotive.

Mr. Pringle began railroading as an apprentice for the Colorado Midland railroad at Colorado Springs, Colo. After completing his apprenticeship he went to work as a machinist for the D. & R. G. in Denver, in 1902, remaining there until May, 1903, when he went to Helper, Utah, where he was employed as a machinist for the D. & R. G. Western. He remained there until December, 1903, when, as was his custom he went to spend Christmas with his parents in northern Iowa.. While there he was invited to visit "Billie" Metcalf, who was residing in Sedalia, and with whom Mr. Pringle had roomed in Colorado Springs. While visiting Mr. Metcalf he was induced to go to work for the Missouri Pacific at the old shops as a machinist on January 13, 1904. On October 10, 1906 he was transferred from the old shops to the new shops as a machinist. He was gang foreman for about six months in 1905 and on September 15, 1913, was appointed general erecting foreman, which position he has held since that time.

Aside from railroading, Mr. Pringle has been active in many affairs both with the railroad and civic matters. He was chairman of the Machinists Local No. 71 for many years. Recalling some of his experiences he relates that he was a member of the committee that went before the management for a wage increase, and after two weeks of negotiating the rate of pay, which was 33 cents per hour for machinists, was increased to 34 cents. He relates that he took the first train home, afraid that the representatives would change their minds.

At Association Meeting

In 1918 the supervisors, whose rate of pay did not equal that of the machinists, appointed a committee composed of Mr. Pringle, Mr. Gilmore, general round house foreman for the Frisco and Mr. O'Neill, general round house foreman for the Wabash, to attend a meeting of the General Managers' Association in Chicago relative to a wage increase. Shortly after this conference this committee was called to Washington, D. C., to meet with the Labor board, and as a result the supervisors were

Crime Inquiry Starts By A Grand Jury

Judge Southern Asks Probe Be Thorough One

May Reach To Public Officials

Neither Graves Or McKittrick Were In Court

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 4—(AP)—A Jackson county grand jury, newly instructed to ask aid of the attorney general or county prosecutor, if it wished, in its investigation of "all character" of crime in Kansas City, questioned its first two witnesses today without the aid of an attorney.

Called hurriedly back into session on the strength of a state supreme court ruling, the jury was requested by Judge Allen C. Southern to inquire into "reports that organized gambling has been conducted by racketeers openly and notoriously, without restraint by the law enforcement agencies of Kansas City and Jackson county."

The judge, whose grand jury call and anti-gambling drive have added ammunition to the political feud between Gov. Lloyd C. Stark and Kansas City's powerful T. J. Pendergast Democratic organization, instructed the jury also:

It should investigate "reputed violation of the state's liquor laws in this jurisdiction."

It might "inquire into the conduct of public officials of this county, or city, and if you discover sufficient evidence of violation of law on the part of any official you should not hesitate to indict."

"If you should discover x x that any criminal charge which has heretofore been instituted and dismissed can and should be revived and prosecuted, you may bring an indictment thereon."

It might study any evidence of "corrupt practices at elections and concerning election officials."

Specific instructions did not limit the jury's "power to investigate crimes of any character."

Denies Barring Graves

Judge Southern asserted that "notwithstanding statements to the contrary" he had barred neither Attorney General Roy McKittrick nor Prosecutor W. W. Graves from assisting the jury.

Neither, however, was in the courtroom, and when the jury retired to call witnesses it did not ask aid from any of the five assistant county prosecutors who had taken notes as the instructions were read.

The judge specifically named Attorneys General J. E. Taylor, Harry Kay and J. W. Buffington to aid the jury, but at Jefferson City McKittrick indicated he might name others to take their places.

Governor Stark's charges that "unrestrained violations of law are openly and notoriously committed" in Kansas City were brought early into the instructions by Judge Southern.

He quoted also charges by Attorney General McKittrick that state liquor law enforcement "is a mockery, a shame, a disgrace and an outrage."

Judge Southern mentioned no specific case in the clause of instructions explaining the jury's right to reinstitute prosecution of any dismissed action. Observers here recalled, however, the governor's blast at Kansas City law enforcement followed quickly the dismissal by Graves in December of a much publicized criminal charge.

While opening the way for appearance of Graves, McKittrick or their assistants before the grand jury, the judge made it clear "neither the circuit court, the prosecuting attorney nor any other person or official can interfere with or frustrate the proceedings and deliberations." He added jurors could "conduct your hearings in such manner as you see fit" and "may examine witnesses on your own responsibility."

Identity of the two witnesses questioned by the jury before it recessed until Monday, was kept secret.

A federal grand jury, charged by Albert L. Reeves to study possible income tax charges against the "big man" of Kansas City gambling, recessed yesterday until February 14.

Bring Airplane Sales Into Open

In the furore about sale of military airplanes to France, one thing stands out quite clearly.

The American people are entitled to know what is going on.

If there is one thing that stands contrary to every American principle, it is to have any arrangements or understandings with any country which the people do not know about.

It is all very well to protect military secrets by closed hearings and unrecorded testimony. But it is quite another to have discussions of foreign policy itself in secret.

Can it be true, as reported, that the President pledged the Military Affairs Committee to secrecy in a recent hearing "lest details of the policy involved frighten the public" This is scarcely credible.

What kind of policy is it that would "frighten the public"? Isn't it the same public which in case of war would be asked to wage it unfrightened? Isn't the public made up largely of the same people who would in war be drafted into the army and asked to face an enemy, unfrightened? Isn't the public the same one which might be asked to hide underground at the alarm of air attack, unfrightened?

The American public is not so easily frightened. It is entitled to know the facts of life.

It has not forgotten, for instance, how the diplomacy of Sir Edward Grey had the British in a box when the World War broke out. Grey left them no choice whatever but to enter the war. There was no formal military alliance with France. But close cooperation between the general staffs, military and naval, and many "conversations" between civilian leaders, had made the two countries inter-depenent and closely linked. When war came, the British people had no genuine free choice.

The United States wants no agreements, understandings, or obligation, spoken or unspoken, written or unwritten, that will deny to it a free choice if there is another world war.

This is not to argue that we should refuse to sell airplanes to France. We are already selling war supplies to Japan to help it bomb the independence out of the Chinese. We are selling them to South American countries whose current governments are less than completely democratic. In fact, we are selling them to all comers except to the legal Spanish government.

Probably it is all right to sell planes to France. But we have a right to know to precisely what policies we are being committed. Nothing less than that will sustain popular confidence in those policies.

A gallon of average material from the planet Saturn would weigh less than a gallon of water; therefore, the planet would float.

Some African natives churn the milk from cattle to get butter, which, instead of being eaten is used as hair dressing.

The sun's distance from the earth varies from about 91.5 million miles in January to 94.5 million miles in July.

Most of the so-called "dark days" occasionally reported in the United States are due to forest fires.

Perils Of Staying At Home

In 1938 it was actually more dangerous to stay at home than to go out on the streets on foot or in an automobile.

At least that's a fair decision from the 1938 figures on fatal accidents compiled by the National Safety Council. They show that while 32,000 people were killed in traffic accidents, 32,500 were killed by accidents in their own homes.

For the first time in ten years the home was more deadly than traffic, for while concentrated traffic safety drives were cutting the traffic toll by 7,640, a reduction of 19 per cent, fatal home accidents increased 2 per cent.

The accident prevention work of all the National Safety Council and other agencies proved them a real national asset in the year just passed. For they helped the United States to cut its accident death toll by 10,200 for the year. Further, 700,000 fewer persons were disabled by injuries in 1938 than in 1937.

Sentiment aside, there is a tremendous economic gain for the country in thus cheating death of what he has come to regard as his legitimate prey.

But the toll of accidental death is still a terrible one, and the encouraging results of the 1938 safety campaigns should stimulate everyone to seek even better results this year.

Beware The Martians!

Speaking of the prospect of war—

Mars himself is rushing at the earth at a furious pace, and will approach very close on July 23.

Pretty close, that is. Very close only in the astronomical sense. On July 23 he will come within 36,030,000 miles of the earth. Considering that he is now 176,000,000 miles away, you might call that near approach in July "pretty close" as those things go, out there in inter-stellar space.

That's the time for all those who tumbled out of their houses in terror during the radio "invasion of the Martians" last year to step quietly outside and take a calm look at the red planet whose name is that of the Roman god of war.

Note the date. And don't forget to look under the bed for Martians!

The most brilliant of our amateur diplomats suggests a pair of seed catalogs for two European firebrands. That'll take their minds off war making for a time.

As protection against an enemy, the many legged-millipede is able to roll itself into a sphere.

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

(Editor's Note—Herewith The Washington Merry - Go - Round nominates for some of President Roosevelt's "fifteen good decapitations" the sugar - lobbying "devils" berated by Secretary Hull).

WASHINGTON — Cordell Hull is not good at writing diplomatic notes; his young men in the State Department write them for him. But when it comes to good old-fashioned cussing, the Secretary of State is unexcelled by anyone in the Administration.

The other day on Capitol Hill he let loose his choice vocabulary against the Sugar Lobby. "Congress is swarming with lobbyists who bedevil us," he charged. He called them other names, unprintable here.

Secretary Hull failed to mention all the other breeds and brands of lobbyists now swarming Capitol Hill. But as an indication of how the lobbyists have come back into their own despite congressional investigations, here is the roll-all of the sugar lobbying "devils" so-called by Mr. Hull. It includes Senators and close members of the Administration.

Here is the list:

United States Cane Sugar Refiners Association—This, the most effective of all sugar lobbies, represents three-fourths of the national sugar business, rented a swank house next to Herbert Hoover's and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's last year where Congressmen were wined and dined and lined up for sugar.

Head of this outfit is Ellsworth Bunker, vice president of the National Sugar Refining Company of New Jersey. Lush salaries also are paid to two ex-government employees, John Dalton, former chief of the AAA Sugar Section, and Charles F. Boots, former legislative counsel for the Senate

Farmers and Manufacturers Beet Sugar Association—This is represented by Clarence Bourg, one of the most active lobbyists in Washington, who is constantly drumming up grievances, fancied and real, against the Agriculture Department. The more hot water the sugar industry gets into, apparently, the more valuable become Mr. Bourg's services.

Jefferson Island

Philippine Sugar Association—E Senator Harry Hawes of Missouri represents the Philippines and does a very good job. His parties on Jefferson Island on the Chesapeake are the Mecca for Democratic Congressmen, at which times he has no trouble in getting across his sugar views. He is one of the most gracious hosts in Washington, and has proved that wining and dining pays dividends. He also contributes to the campaign fund of certain Senators on the Insular Affairs Committee.

The Cuban Lobby is headed by Dr. Oscar Diaz Albertini, a high grade man, but because of his status as a foreigner, operating less obstrusively than the others.

The National Beet Sugar Growers Association is dominated by the big landowners who employ Mexican and child labor, but they let the individual farmers front for them. It is constantly yammering for higher sugar prices on the pretense that it is battling for the farmer.

Beet Sugar Influence

Although the beet growers do not handle as much sugar as the cane sugar refiners, they have far more influence on Capitol Hill through their control of Senators from the Rocky Mountain States. This lobby is headed by Charles M. Kearney, with Val C. Sherman as publicity agent.

At their last national convention, S. K. Warrick, a director from Nebraska, was ousted because he insisted upon an honest, open policy in the Association's relations with the Government. He charged political trickery by some of the Association's executives.

Congressman Fred Cummings of Colorado is the Association's chief representative in Congress.

The United States Beet Sugar Association maintains Neil Kelly as crief lobbyist, and represents the big beet processors of the West. In the background is Horace Havemeyer, son of the one-time sugar king and director of the Great Western Sugar Company. This organization functions on a higher plane than the average.

Louisiana Smear

American Sugar Cane League—This represents the Louisiana sugar processors, masquerades as a farmer-grower organization, and is one of the worst high-pressure lobbying outfits on Capital Hill. Its policy is to smear any Congressman or official who does not yield to domination by the Sugar Cane League.

The Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association maintains Ernest Greene in Washington, who has cut loose from the methods of old-fashioned lobbyists and has won the esteem of government officials.

The Association of Sugar Producers of Puerto Rico has sent a lobbyist to Washington for the first time in recent history. He is J. A. Dickey, formerly employed by the Department of Agriculture. He has an "in" with Department officials, but is careful not to overstep the limits as do the bulldozing wire-pulling lobbyists.

Dignitaries

The list also includes various high-placed dignitaries within the Administration, among them Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan, vice president of the Paulding Sugar Company.

Agricultural officials also look with suspicion on two other very highly-placed gentlemen, Marriner Eccles, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board and president of the Amalgamated Sugar Company; also Charles Taussig, original member of the Brain Trust and close friend of Cordell Hull's. He is president of the American Molasses Company.

How much Eccles influences sugar policy is not known, but if he does it is by a remote control. Taussig, on the other hand, usually is found lined up against the big refiner lobbyists.

That is the list of the gentlemen who have "bedeviled" Mr. Hull, and whom he is probobly right in calling one of the most powerful lobbies on Capitol Hill.

It Happened in America

Marshall Tom Smith of Abilene, Kansas

Little did Joseph C. McCoy realize in 1867, when he induced Texas cattlemen to drive their cattle to Abilene, Kansas over the Chisholn Trail, that the establishment of this great business which was to follow would change the life of this peaceful plains community to one overrun with every known vice of those days.

The place grew like a mushroom — saloons came a plenty, also gambling and people of the lowest type, for those were mostly the cattle drivers — Mexicans, Spaniards, Negroes and low-whites — bait for the card sharks, and other illicit callings. Drunkenness, gambling and murders, which were common and openly practiced without any semblance of law and order, came upon the town like a tornado. All the cowprodders were fully armed and sometimes shot anyone on sight, without any provocation. The decent people were absolutely defenseless.

Then, all of a sudden, a great change took place, when Theodore C. Henry, the first mayor of Abilene, 1869-1871, hired a fellow named Tom (Thomas James) Smith as marshal. Smith, a former New York policeman, who was born about 1840, was five feet, eleven inches tall and weighed about 170 pounds — was broad shouldered, erect, athletic and physically superb.

He started to work immediately. Signs were posted around the town ordering the discontinuance of "gun totin". For a while these signs were shot full of holes as fast as they appeared.

Smith, who never carried a gun, had formulated a plan to disarm the ruffians, from which he never deviated, and which soon brought him face to face with his first encounter.

"Big Hank," a cowboy desperado boasted loudest that no one could disarm him. Approaching Smith tauntingly with oaths one day, he was met by a single blow, well directed from Smith's huge fists, well trained in the art of fisticuffs, which placed "Big Hank" hors de combat. Smith took his guns and ran him out of town. News of this affair travelled fast, soon reaching the ears of another bully, one "Wyoming Frank," who made similar threats of defiance, only to meet a like fate and just as quickly. Several more such encounters and strange as it may seem, law and order was in full effect.

Then, all of a sudden, like a bolt cut of a clear sky, Abilene staggered from a blow which shocked the whole town. Tom Smith was dead. He had been killed, not by Texans, but by two Scotch grangers out in the country, where he had gone to arrest them on a murder charge. Thus ended quickly the career of one of the finest policeman of the Plains country.

A monument to his memory has been erected in Abilene cemetery. On its bronze plate reads: "Died a martyr to duty, November 2, 1870, a fearless hero of frontier days who in cowboy chacs established the supremacy of the law."

• SERIAL STORY

NO TIME TO MARRY

BY ELINORE COWAN STONE
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Janet finds Aunt Mary seriously ill. A few days later she learns that Barney has been sent out of town on a newspaper graft expose.

CHAPTER XIX

"KNOW him, do you?" exclaimed the old gentleman, gazing at her with fresh interest. "Well, I have an idea he's worth knowing. I've seen one or two articles on current topics he's had in the magazines."

"Did you like them?" Janet asked.

"He doesn't miss much, and he's got a way of putting things so that you remember them. Most young men, if they're worth their weight in pig-iron, start out in life with an idea that they'd like to take a crack at some of the modern dragons that need killing—but very few of them actually do. . . . I never did. Sometimes I think, even now, that it might be fun to have a try. There isn't a heck of a lot of fun left in life after you're 70."

"I suppose not," Janet said absently. "I mean—no one would ever guess you were over 70."

He chuckled a little at that.

"Oh, do you have to go?" he exclaimed as Janet got to her feet.

"I'm afraid so. But it's been nice to talk to you, Mr.—"

"Justin. Abner Justin. Well, maybe we'll meet again some time."

"I hope so, Mr. Justin."

Janet found that her best smile—the one she hadn't felt like using for weeks—was still working, and used it.

"That's better," he said contentedly. "Now you look like yourself."

He's a lamb, Janet thought as she went off down the trail.

CYNTHIA'S message had said that she and Tim would be at home sometime during the week after New Year. The news had seemed to put new life into Aunt Mary, who in spite of having shown amazing vitality, was thin and spent, and suffering miseries from her broken hip.

On Christmas morning, her room a virtual garden of flowers, she inspected her gifts with the frank interest of a 10-year-old. There was a throw, woven of the finest eiderdown, as unbelievably light and fleecy and soft as a fairy coverlet, from Cynthia and Timothy Benton. Janet spread it out over her, and she lay, from time to time trailing her fingers over the delicate fleece and smiling faintly.

It was after midnight—long after Janet had gone home—that she said quietly to the nurse, "Such a nice Christmas! I'm glad I had this one more. . . . I thought I'd stick it out till New Year; but something tells me I'm not going to make it after all. . . . Well, I've had an interesting time while it lasted. . . . All right, call the doctor if you must; but it's no use. . . . No, I won't have my niece disturbed. This business of dying is something you have to attend to for yourself, anyhow. Just tell her in the morning that I went very quietly—in my sleep. People like to believe that."

And so, having made up her own mind on the subject, Aunt Mary died, as independently and composedly as she had lived.

JANET, who had been staying with Sylvia Grant, went alone to the apartment after she heard. She wanted to sit quietly for awhile among the things Aunt Mary had lived with and loved.

She had hardly taken her wraps off before the knocker sounded at the front entrance. When she opened the door, Barney McKnight stood, grinning down at her. He was startlingly gaunt, and his blue eyes were sunk deep in their sockets; but they were bright with excitement.

"Well, sister, I'm back in your midst," he cried. "Seen the send-off the News gave my story? . . . Where's Aunt Mary?" Then at sight of Janet's face, he broke off. "Good Lord, Janet!" he burst out. "What is the matter?"

"Aunt Mary's—gone, Barney," Janet said woodenly. "She's dead. She died last night."

"Dead—Aunt Mary!" His face was as blank as his voice. "Oh, Jan! Why, I can't—people like Aunt Mary don't just die—like that!"

"Don't they?" Janet asked dully.

Then, seeing how utterly stunned he was, she asked, "You don't mean, Barney, that you haven't heard—anything—all these weeks?"

"How could I," he demanded. "For almost two months I've been racing across the continent on the coattails of a guy who was barely three jumps ahead of the police. The police didn't get him—but I did. That's how I found out where to look for the written evidence I needed, and—oh, skip that! It doesn't matter now."

"But, Barney, do you mean you've just got back?"

"Not exactly. But the people I've been seeing since I did aren't the kind you would know. Since I came—after I'd seen the people this man sent me to—I've been camped with a pot of coffee handy and a wet towel around my head, spilling the story onto paper as fast as I could write. . . . Oh, Jan, you poor baby!"

HE put his arms around her; and she leaned against him while she told him what had happened, crying passionately for the first time.

"They said it was her heart, Barney," she finished. "All of a sudden—after we thought she was better—it began to grow weaker. And then it just—stopped. . . . Oh, Barney, I wanted you so terribly all that time! And you didn't come."

She felt his arm stiffen under her head. After a breath, he said with an intensity she had never heard from him before, "For God's sake, Jan, don't say things like that unless you mean them!"

"But I do mean it. I kept thinking every day you'd call. Even Lance did—and he knew Aunt Mary didn't like him. . . . She loved you, Barney."

He was silent so long that she lifted her head. Then he said, "I'm here now, Janet. And I'll always be here if you'll let me. . . . Do you remember what I told you that morning when we were stuck in the fog? You said something silly about my making an honest woman of you, and I said I could think of a lot of things I'd hate worse. That was a masterpiece of understatement, Jan. . . . I couldn't say much more that morning—not till I had something to show you."

Janet drew a little away from him.

"Why, Barney!" she breathed. "But I never thought of us—in that way."

After a moment he released her slowly.

"Of course," he said. "Just another pipe dream. . . . But I thought you understood all along. I supposed—well, we have got used to each other."

"But all along I thought it was Cynthia you wanted. . . . We seemed just—grand good friends."

"Well, that wouldn't be such a bad start, would it? As for Cynthia, that never really meant anything to either of us. And I've known a lot of swell girls, Jan, but you're the only one I ever—well, wanted to take care of for the rest of my life. Aunt Mary knew how I felt. . . . Do you know I believe that somehow she understood that all this was going to happen to her soon. It was only a short time before I went away that she was talking to me about you. . . . I wonder if you'd care to hear what she said?"

"Please tell me, Barney," Janet said.

George Cole on Buying Trip In The East

George Cole, manager of Cole's Ready-to-Wear store in Sedalia, is now in New York City with other members of the Cole buying organization. He accompanied his two brothers, John Cole and William Cole, managers of the Cole Stores at Parsons and Fort Scott, Kansas, respectively, as well as J. R. Wood and P. G. Dalton, managers of the Cole stores at Junction City and Manhattan, Kansas. Returning from New York they will visit the Chicago markets to complete their spring season buying before returning to their respective stores.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The medical profession has introduced a bill in the legislature which. if passed, will make it almost impossible for future chiropractors to obtain licenses. They propose a super-board that all doctors must pass before examination in their own profession. We give no medicine but the law requires that we take the SAME chemistry examination as medical doctors. We do not practice surgery and consequently, could not answer questions in surgical anatomy. Our theory of germ diseases is different than theirs but they would compel us to pass examinations in THEIR theory. Why compel us to teach subjects we do not use? This is comparable to demanding a rabbi pass an examination for Catholic priesthood before he can be a rabbi.

Dr. Roy M. Keller

Why should we school ourselves in THEIR ideas any more than they in OURS. Our very existence is because we have different ideas and different methods and therefore, accomplish things they do not. The majority of a chiropractor's business are cases that they failed upon. That we ARE SUCCESSFUL in most cases is proven by the fact that we are still in practice I, myself, for twenty years. The medicos who sponser this bill would choke our profession to death and deprive those, who they could not help, from regaining their health through chiropractic. I can cite medical authority who admits that such bills are to "eliminate chiropractors." Evidently they are worried about our increasing success. Space forbids me presenting more evidence showing the rank injusice of this bill.

If you are not in favor of such a law which, in the future, will deprive many people of a chiropractor's service, please send a card or letter to Sen. Chas. Ewen and also Rep. E. W. Couey, Jefferson City, Mo., and express opposition to Senate Bill No. 29.

Notice To Scoutmasters

A Scoutmasters' and Commissioners' meeting will be held Wednesday, Febraury 15 at the scout office at 7:30 p. m. Cecil G. Morrison, scout executive, will be present, and all scoutmasters and commissioners are urged to attend. This is important.

Board of Review

The following Scouts passed tests at the last Board of Review held January 30, at the Scout office:

Kenneth Clark—Second Class.
Dick Ross—Second Class.
Jimmie Leslie—Second Class.
Harold Temple—Second Class.
Buddy Wasson—First Class.
Judson Banks—First Class.
Ernest Wolfil—First aid to animals, marksmanship.
Jack Dedrick—Handicraft and Animal Industry.
James Barnes—Civics.
Billie Marlin—Photography and Gardening.
Alfred Paxton—First Aid to Animals, Personal Health and Bird Study.

Buddy Barnes— Safety, Public Health and Bookbinding.
Chas. Cotterman — First Class, Woodwork, Bookbinding, Angling, Swimming and Handicraft.
Joe Quinn— Public Health and Safety.
Harry McNamara—Firemanship.

Troop 50—The newly appointed committee of this troop, sponsored by Missouri Pacific employes' Booster club, held a meeting in the scout office Saturday morning discussing plans for the coming year. Plans are being formulated to make this troop one of the outstanding troops in the "Lake of the Ozarks" council. The committee and their duties are as follows: James Keenan, chairman; Outdoors man, James Blue; Educational man, F. G. Rose; Advancement man, J. E. McNeal; Thrift man, Walter Jesse; Scoutmaster, I. S. Barnes.

Troop 51 — At our last meeting we played indoor ball until everybody got there. Then Scouts Cecil Swift, Dick Erickson, T. J. Cannon, Kenneth Clark and Harold Fimple went to the board of review. Donald Poundstone then led in the scout laws. Sonny Klink led in the scout oath. Frank Kaufmann presented the flag while Bobby Leftwich led in the flag salute. We then studied nature study and had a lot of fun. The troop next chose up sides and had a snowball fight. We had a lot of fun and nobody got hurt. After awhile we closed our meeting with the Lords Prayer.

Sonny Boyd, Scribe.

Troop 53 held its meeting Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. We had two troop committeemen present. They were Glenn Kell and Otis Howe, Sr. Mr. Alley was in charge of the meeting and we opened with a pledge to the flag. Ambrose Pirtle led us in the scout oath and each boy gave six scout laws. We then went to our patrol corners and checked dues, good turns, and attendance. We came back from our patrol corners and each patrol gave a stunt. Then we studied on scout tests until 8:15. Then we played a game called "Heads Or Tails." At 8:30 we gave the scout benediction and the meeting was dismissed.

Otis Howe, Jr., Scribe

Troop 56A — Met at Washington school auditorium. There were twenty scouts present. The meeting opened with the usual procedure. There was a brief business meeting then the boys played basketball. The entire meeting was passed in playing basketball. After all the patrols had played the Scoutmaster had a few minutes in which he talked of our new standard and the coming Court of Honor. Troop B assembled with us and we said the scoutmaster's benediction. Taps was blown and we were dismissed.

Maurice Silsby, Scribe.

Troop 56B — met at Washington school Monday night. The meeting was opened by saying the scout oath and laws. All our committeemen were present. We went to our patrol corners and dues were collected. We then went upstairs and studied first aid while Troop A played basketball. We then came downstairs and played basketball while Troop A studied. The meeting was closed by saying the scoutmaster's benediction. Taps was blown.

Robert Lee Smith, Scribe.

Troop 60 held its regular Monday night meeting. We practiced on our program for parents' night. The whole troop is planning to go to Lake Tebo a week from Friday. George Ruffin led us in the scout law, oath and pledge of allegiance to the flag. Then we played games, the Cobras competing with the Panthers. We repeated the scoutmaster's benediction and the meeting was adjourned.

Jacque Cowherd, Scribe.

Troop 61 met at the Mark Twain school Thursday, Feb. 2. After studying in our patrol rooms, Mr. Steiner, our scoutmaster, and ten boys went to Lake Tebo Thursday afternoon to pass second class tests. After discussing our proposed hike Saturday seven boys were presented their Tenderfoot badges. We were dismissed with the scout oath and law, led by the Pelican patrol and the scout master's benediction was given. We had as a visitor the last part of our meeting, G. W. McKelvey, the father of one of our scouts.

Gloves Winners Prepare For Kansas City

Last-Minute Instructions Given Today

Boxers to report At Fire Station This Afternoon

Central Missouri's Golden Glove champions will "touch-up" at 2 o'clock this afternoon with a light workout at fire station No. 2, the regular training quarters, after which they will receive their instructions to prepare to leave for Kansas City.

The boys are requested to report early and be ready to go into their work. Coach Lawrence N. Englund desires to have a talk with the boys as to the plans and arrangements being made for the largest boxing team ever to go into Kansas City from Sedalia.

Saturday night several boys took advantage of a night's workout at the station including Albert McAlear of Marshall, who came to town to get some last minute instructions. Denver "Buck" Miller and Le Roy Bouton took a fling at a good hard three rounds of boxing and exercising, while the Stuart brothers were on hand to likewise take in a little last minute advice.

The boxers are to wear their new jackets and remain in a group in Kansas City. They will wear into the ring the new Sedalia Democrat robes and trunks given them last Thursday night.

Every boy who won the open championships and the novice champions who were made by virtue of losing their final bout will all go to the Tournament of Champions with their expenses paid by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital newspapers.

Win or lose, every boy who cares to, can stay in Kansas City over Monday night and Tuesday and see the fights on Tuesday night as guests of the newspapers. The boxers will be given every opportunity to see Kansas City and to enjoy themselves during the two-days stay.

All boxers are to report at the Democrat-Capital newspaper at 7:45 o'clock Monday morning, and will leave Sedalia by 8 o'clock going direct to the Pickwick hotel where the team will headquarter, during the stay.

Weighing in will be held at the Municipal Auditorium between 11 o'clock Monday morning and 2 o'clock in the afternoon after which the pairings will be made at a drawing to be attended by the coaches and sponsors of each boxing team.

It is expected every boy from Sedalia will get into action the first night due to the new arrangement of three rings to be used in the large hall.

Michigan Bars Tony Galento

DETROIT, Feb. 4—(AP)—Frank MacDonell, chairman of the Michigan athletic board of control, described as "silly" tonight the National Boxing association's recent ranking of Tony Galento as No. 1 contender for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, and imposed restrictions on future bouts of Galento here.

Then he barred from further competition in the state Natie Brown, veteran Washington, D. C., boxer, who dropped to the canvas ten times before being counted out in the fourth round of a fight with the 234-pound Orange, N. J., tavern keeper, here last night.

"It was disgusting," said MacDonell. "Brown is all washed up and I don't believe that Galento can lick me."

The boxing commissioner, who says he weighs 128 pounds, explained Galento's status this way:

"Galento will have to win a fight from an outstanding fighter in some other state before I shall allow him to appear in Michigan again."

Patty Berg To Miami Golf Finals

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—Playing at the peak of her game, red-haired Patty Berg of Minneapolis, today swept Laddie Irwin, of Glen Ridge, N. J., out of her path to a fourth straight victory in the Miami Biltmore golf tournament. She meets Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta in the 36-hole final tomorrow.

The freckle-faced national champion had a nine-hole card of 36, one over men's par and four under women's, as she trounced the 18-year-old Jersey girl, 7 and 5, in the semi-final.

Bettina Defeats Tiger Jack Fox

NEW YORK, Feb. 4—(AP)—Melio Bettina, a hairy little fellow with a lot of heart and dynamite in both hands, won the New York version of the world's light heavyweight championship Friday night by stopping the highly-favored Jack Fox of Spokane, Wash., in the ninth round of their 15-round struggle at Madison Square Garden. Bettina weighed 172½, Fox 174¾.

May it be said the third annual Central Missouri Golden Glove tournament came to a close in a "flame" of glory. Sedalia and Central Missouri will be well represented in the Tournament of Champions in Kansas City to be held Monday, Tuesday and Friday of this week under the sponsorship of the Kansas City Star.

The Sedalia Open Champions are: Denver "Buck" Miller, 112; Cecil Landers, 118; Pete Stuart, 126; Mark Peek, 135; Raymond "Bud" Martin, 147; "Aggie" McMillian, 160; Earl Hallahan, 175, and "Mike" Hughes, heavyweight.

Mark Peek hails from Lexington, and has plenty of ring experience representing the Kansas City Star's team in Oklahoma on two occasions, and also in Nebraska. He will probably weigh in at Kansas City in the featherweight division.

"Aggie" McMillian is known by all Central Missouri fans and he is expected to clear a path through the Kansas City tournament in the middleweight division. McMillian at present is a student at the Kemper Military Academy in Boonville.

Much is being expected of Earl Hallahan, who has championships of the Kansas National Guard in the middleweight and light-heavyweight divisions, and also won an A. A. U. championship in Kansas City in the middleweight division several years ago.

Denver "Buck" Miller is a hope in the flyweight class. Buck has defeated two of Kansas City's best and he is expected to go sailing up in the big tournament. Should he meet Beebe Rich there is no argument there will be a battle.

Bud Martin has his heart set on going places at Kansas City, and he has improved 100% the past year in his boxing and should bring results. He had little trouble in the local tournament this year.

"Mike" Hughes, who weighed in as a heavyweight in Sedalia since the fights has dropped back to almost a middleweight. Mike has a fighting heart and should make a nice showing.

Pete Stuart the featherweight is expected to do some fairly good boxing this year in Kansas City. He played into bad luck most of the season but had little trouble going through the home tournament.

Cecil Landers, bantamweight, is expected to make a good showing at the city tournament. Landers this season has had little trouble with his opponents in this section and has defeated three times a finalist of St. Louis.

The young Sedalian will be plenty of trouble for whomever he meets Monday night.

Although we have but five colored boys in the Sedalia team in the championship division, they are expected to make a fairly good showing in the tournament.

Of the open champions Henry Harker, featherweight, is expected to be the ring leader, with Jimmy Baylor, of the middleweight class doing himself proud.

Alvin Cole, welterweight, should do well in his fights, providing his jaw is in shape to enter the ring Monday night. Cole has had some trouble with his jaw this year, but he feels he will be able to continue on.

Sam Johnson, Lexington, will be the colored lightweight representative. Johnson beat William Whitley for the championship and looked good to the crowd.

Dave Hill, lightweight, has a terrific punch and appears to be in excellent condition to meet any opponent. Hill went through two fights at Kansas City, but was eliminated last year because of an injured hand.

William Whitley, goes as a novice champion and upon entering at Kansas City, will ask to be assigned to the open class. Whitley is confident he can do himself proud in his class, lightweight.

The Democrat-Capital's novice champions should make a fairly good showing in Kansas City. C. Everett, Kemper light-heavyweight; Bill Seabaugh, Kemper middleweight; Sam Tuck, Houstonia welterweight; Tommy Craig of C. C. C. camp 3761, California; Pete Stuart, Sedalia, featherweight, and Le Roy Bouton bantamweight.

These boys lost to the open champions and by virtue of going to the Sedalia finals were accepted as novice champions.

The organization of baseball teams in Sedalia has gotten off to an early start this year, with Vincent Siegel, bringing together the first group of Sedalia's hustling ball players to form a team to be known as the Sedalia Merchants.

Manager Siegel announced the team would enter into the competition of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress and compete in the tournament to be held in Sedalia in July. This will give the local players an opportunity to be "scouted" by major league scouts with an opportunity to go up in baseball.

"There'll be no favoritism on this ball club and every position will be earned by the best player. Deliver or no baseball," Mr. Seigel said.

Sedalia is large enough to support a good baseball club and by giving support it will enable the Sedalians to organize good ball, give better baseball and something of which Sedalia should be proud.

There are any number of young players in and around this city that could with good steady training and the wholehearted support of the city, form one of the strongest teams in the state.

There is no argument that Manager Seigel and his Assistant Manager Leonard "Speck" Lobaugh can turn out a team which would give results.

Wanamaker Mile To Cunningham

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—Beating back a bold challenge by Charles "Chuck" Fenske in the last lap, Glenn Cunningham tonight galloped to another of his matchless running triumphs as he scored his sixth victory in seven Wanamaker Mile starts. His time for the feature event of the 32nd annual Millrose A. A. games at Madison Square Garden was 4 minutes, 13 seconds.

Wayne Rideout of North Texas State Teachers staged a handsome sprint of his own to come in third, followed by Archie San Romani, Blaine Rideout, John Munski of Missouri, the pace setter for the early part of the race, and Josef Mostert of Belgium.

Colorful Promoter of Sports Is Dead

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4 (AP)—Business associates said today C. C. (cash and carry) Pyle, 56, who made and lost fortunes as one of the nation's most colorful sports promoters, was "all square with his creditors" when he died yesterday.

Promotion For "Bob" Smallwood

Robert E. Smallwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Smallwood, 506 East Tenth street, who has been for the past several years room clerk at Hotel Bothwell, and recently appointed assistant manager by Al Tracy, has been promoted again to the position of manager of the Tioga Inn, Chanute, Kans. He left Wednesday to assume his new duties.

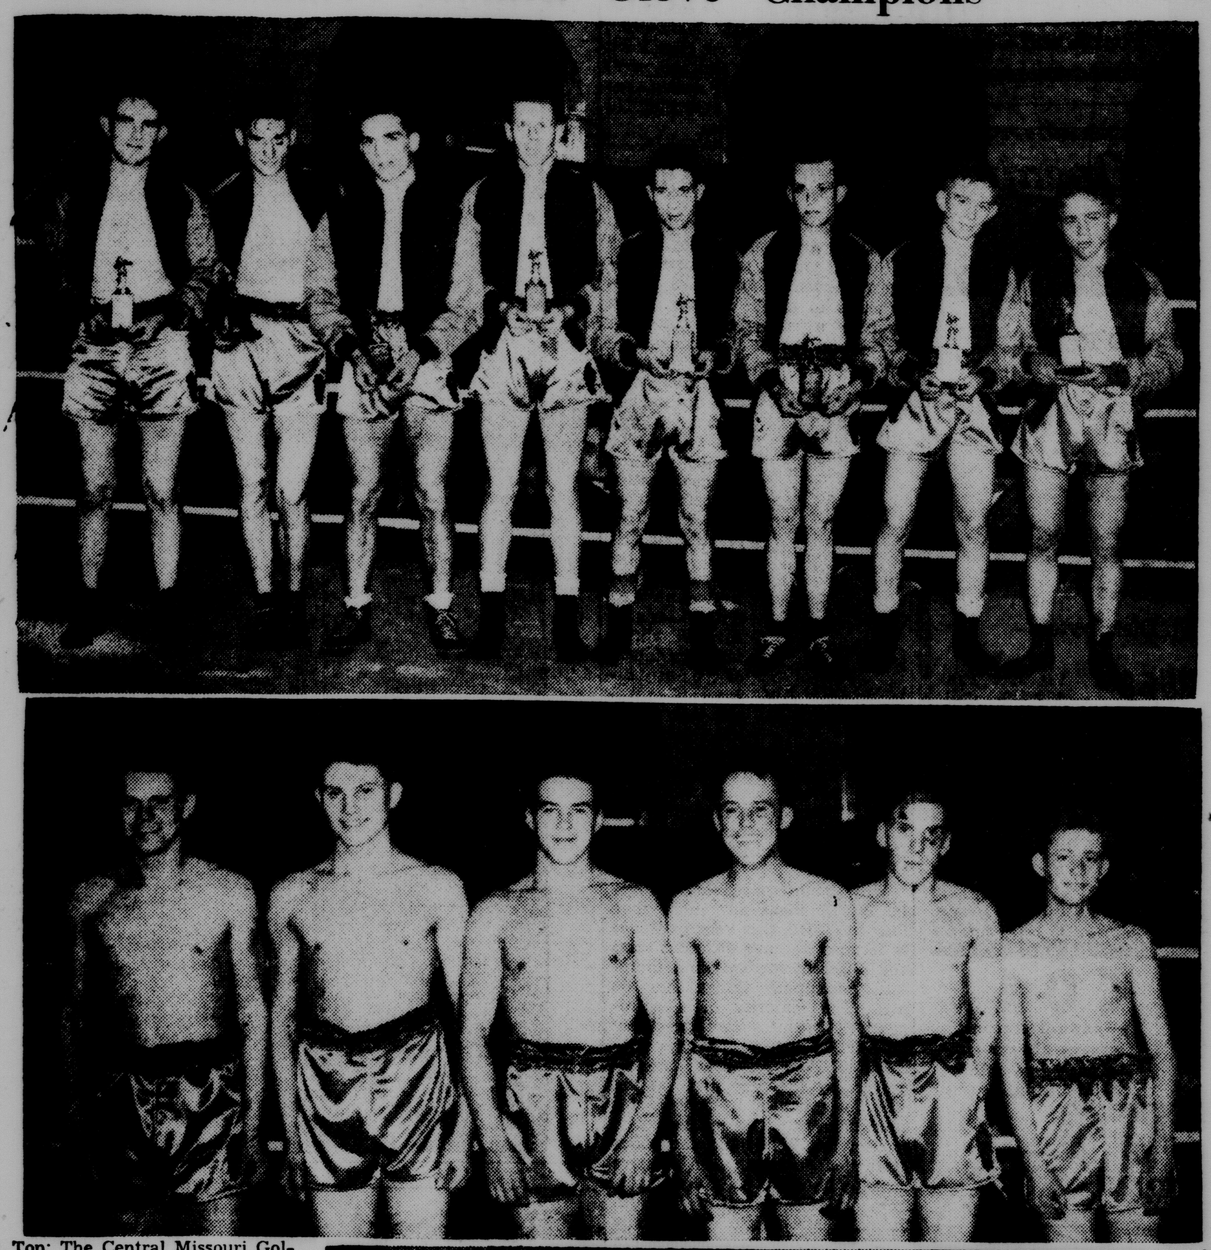
The Tioga Inn is a very beautiful hotel of one hundred rooms, opened about three years ago. It is also owned and operated by the Sweet Hotels, Inc., John S. Sweet, president. This company operates nine hotels in Missouri and Kansas, of which the Bothwell is one.

Smallwood takes the place of Bob Dudley, who went to Chanute from the Bothwell, five years ago. He has been promoted to the managership of the Hotel Atchison, at Atchison, Kans.

Dave Driskell, who has been bell captain and relief clerk at the Bothwell for several years, will fill the vacancy made by Smallwood's departure.

"Bob" Smallwood has many friends who will miss him, but will wish him success in his new home.

Central Missouri's Golden Glove Champions



Top: The Central Missouri Golden Glove champions, sponsored by the Sedalia Democrat-Capital newspapers, who go to Kansas City in the open division Monday to participate in the Tournament of Champions, Golden Gloves, sponsored by The Kansas City Star.

The boys from left to right: Mike Hughes, heavyweight; Earl Hallahan, light heavyweight; "Aggie" McMiJlian, middleweight; Raymond "Bud" Martin, welterweight; Mark Peek, lightweight; Pete Stuart, featherweight; Cecil Landers, bantamweight; Denver "Buck" Miller, flyweight. The boys are dressed in their new "togs" of scarlet red and royal blue jackets and their scarlet red and blue trunks. They hold the championship trophies won in the tournament.

McMillian represents the Kemper Military Academy while Peek represents the Lexington town team, in the local tournament.

Center: The novice champions: C. Everett, light heavyweight; Bill Seabaugh, middleweight, both boys are from the Kemper Military Academy; Sam Tuck, Houstonia, welterweight; Tom Craig, CCC camp 3761, California, lightweight; Pete Stuart, Sedalia, featherweight and LeRoy Bouton, Sedalia, flyweight. The boys are dressed in their new boxing trunks of scarlet red and blue.

Absent from the picture are Albert McAlear, Marshall, the heavyweight champion, and Dean Murray, Sedalia, bantam weight. Both boys departed from the hall before the picture was taken.

Bottom: Sedalia colored champions: Henry Harker, featherweight; Alvin Cole, welterweight; James Baylor, middleweight; Dave Hill, light heavyweight, all from Sedalia and Sam Johnson, Lexington, lightweight.

William "Bill' Whitley, colored, goes to Kansas City as the novice lightweight champion.

Baseball's Golf Title at Stake

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—Batteries for tomorrow's golf game—Paul Waner, the slugging outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Wesley Ferrell, pitcher for the New York Yankees.

They will play 36 holes of "blood and money" golf for the title in the annual baseball players' tournament.

Waner is defending the title he won last year at Sarasota.

He eliminated Paul Derringer, pitcher for the Cincinnati Reds, 3 and 2, while Ferrell beat Lloyd Brown, the big league veteran who now pitches for St. Paul of the American Association, 5 and 4.

Sets New Outboard Motorboat Speed Mark

LAKELAND, Fla., Feb. 4—(AP)—Paul Wearley, of Muncie, Ind., set a new world's record for class A outboard motorboats, of 44.117 miles per hour here today, in the first heat of the annual mid-winter regatta.

Dr. Roy M. Keller Reports On New Treatment Revealed

Evidence showing surprising success in the treatment of infantile paralysis has just been presented to the President's Interdepartmental Committee to coordinate Health and Welfare Activities by representatives of the National Chiropractic Association, it was announced here today by Dr. Roy M. Keller, local representative of the organization.

"Studies conducted by the association into the treatment of 445 acute cases disclosed 71.5 per cent recovery, while the percentage of recovery in 257 chronic cases was 28.9 per cent," according to Dr. Roy M. Keller.

"The National Association presented this and other pertinent information to the President's Committee and requested the government to appoint a lay committee to investigate what Chiropractic is doing in this specialized field of therapy. The representatives of the National organization pointed out to the committee that funds collected at the President's Birthday Ball last year were used exclusively for continuing research into serum treatment for this disease.

"It is hoped that the government will accede to the request made by the NCA and that a part of the funds raised through the President's Birthday Ball this year will be set aside for a study of Chiropractice claims as to success in the treatment of this disease. In all of the Chiropractic cases presented to the President's Committee, a medical diagnosis of poliamyelitis had been made."

Corn Futures To New Low Level

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Corn futures fell as much as ⅝ cents today to the lowest levels since late last December. Weakness at Buenso Aires and lack of export demand contributed to the downturn.

Selling in the corn market here followed commission house offerings, but there was some absorption at 50 cents for May contracts. The Liverpool corn futures market, which reported some pressure from nearby Argentine parcels, closed ⅛ cent lower and Buenos Aires finished ½ to 1⅜ cent down.

The wheat market, influenced by lower than expected Liverpool quotations, weakness in corn and forecasts for precipitation in the domestic southwest was slightly lower, closing unchanged to ¼ cent off compared with yesterday's finish. May 69⅝c to 68½c, July 68⅝c. Corn closed ¼ to ½ cent off, May 49⅞c to 50c, July 51c; oats unchanged to ⅛ cent off, May 28⅜c; soy beans ⅝ cent off, May 79⅝c; rye unchanged to ¼ cent off, May 46⅛c; lard unchanged to 5 cents lower.

Trade observers, commenting upon lack of export demand for corn, pointed out that while U. S. corn for nearby shipment is offered 4 cents under Argentine in Liverpool, Canadian and Russian barley is available at from 12½ to 17½ cents respectively under U. S. corn. Traders said, too, that corn prices in the interior have moved up rather sharply since the middle of November, largely reflectinly sealing of the grain.

Little was done in the oats and rye markets and prices were slightly lower with corn and wheat. Action of grains tended to ease the lard market.

Tigers Lose To Columbia

Bengals Drop To Cellar by Losing 53-36 Friday

Smith-Cotton's cage team dropped a 53-36 decision to the Columbia Kewpies Friday night, in a game which saw seven men retired from play on personal fouls.

The Tigers got off to a slow start, scoring only four field goals in the first half and averaging less than one score out of four free throws.

The loss of Buddy Agniel, Smith-Cotton defense ace, was apparent in Friday night's game, according to Coach Davenport.

The defeat gave Smith-Cotton unopposed claim on the cellar position in the Central Missouri conference. The Tigers and Kewpies had been tied in last place.

Brewer, Kewpie center, led the scorers with seven field goals and ten free throws. C. Michaells, Tiger forward, was second high with five field goals and four free throws.

The box score:

Galento Wins By KO in Fourth

DETROIT, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tony Galento, The Orange (N. J.) barkeeper and National Boxing Association's No. 1 challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight title, moved into the champion's home town tonight and celebrated the occasion by flattening Natie Brown, of Washington, in 1 minute and 13 seconds of the fourth round.

Market Leaders On Upward Slant

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Stock market leaders ended the week on an upward slant in today's brief session.

Virtually all groups participated in the resumption of the recovery push, with gains running to 2 or more points at the best. A little profit taking at the close reduced top marks.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .4 of a point at 50.4. On the week this composite showed a net gain of 2.3 points, its best performance since the week ending October 8. The comeback followed four consecutive weekly declines.

Volume picked up a bit on the foreward swing, with transfers for the two hours totalling 486,160 shares against 582,530 a week ago. The week's turnover, however, was the smallest since the period ending September 10.

Among the day's favored issues were Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Safeway Stores, J. I. Case, Glenn Martin, Sperry, North American, Public Service of N. J., American Smelting, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Gypsum and Santa Fe.

Secondary bonds were given a lift, but commodities were accorded indifferent support. Wheat at Chicago was unchanged to off ¼ of a cent a bushel and corn down ⅜ to ½ cent. Cotton was 5 cents a bale lower to up 15 cents. Both sterling and the French franc were unchanged in terms of the dollar. American stocks advanced at Amsterdam, the only large overseas market oepn at the week-end.

The Washington furore over the administration's international policies was hardly calculated to stimulate Wall Street sentiment, but the hope was expressed the latest flare-up might result in a beneficial clarification of the situation.

The market gave its best performance of the week on Monday when Hitler's address sounded more conciliatory than expected. The advance continued Tuesday when Prime Minister Chamberlain made a friendly reply. There was a small set-back on cashing of profits Wednesday, but Thursday found the average up again. The slight dip Friday was believed due principally to speculative indifference.

The week's business developments, on the whole, were more constructive than otherwise.

Important Announcement

IT HAS BEEN the established policy of this company for a number of years to offer to its customers only seasoned interest or dividend bearing securities. WE ARE NOT CHANGING THAT POLICY. However, during recent months, there has come to our attention a situation which appears to have such community interest and statewide benefit that we have decided to sponsor it solely as an ATTRACTIVE SPECULATION.

Mr. H. V. Elwell, prominent for years in the oil industry and discoverer of several new fields, and his Geologist, Mr. Marvin Lee, have been identified with the first substantial leasing activity for oil development in Northern Missouri. They have been followed by many of the major oil companies and it is reported that over 2,000,000 acres are now held under lease in this territory.

Mr. Nathan L. Jones, formerly President of a large power, light and telephone company has organized the Northern Missouri Oil Development Company, a Missouri Corporation, which company has contracted to acquire from Mr. Elwell an undivided half interest in leases in seven counties covering substantial blocks of approved geological structures on which company proposes to drill two deep test wells for oil or gas.

70,000 shares of common stock, Par Value $1.00 per share, in Northern Missouri Oil Development Company will be offered for sale only by prospectus, copy of which will be gladly sent you without obligation if you will return the enclosed coupon.

We have checked carefully this company, including detailed report of the geological structures. We have competent legal opinion as to the validity of the corporation, its stock and the title to the drilling site on which a deep test well will be drilled. All of the money provided for the drilling of wells is impounded in a national bank to be paid only upon the completion of each deep test well. On this basis, and realizing the community interest to justify actual drilling, we have decided to sponsor this project and believe that it deserves the support of each community.

Offering is available only to bona-fide residents of the State of Missouri.

"In all my experience with many different medicines my pick of them all would be KruGon," said Mr. J. T. Wood, Route No. 4, Sweet Springs, Mo., (just northwest of Sedalia), a well known gentleman of this section, recently in relating his pleasant experiences with KruGon to the McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, this city:

MR. J. T. WOOD

"I know now that I had been searching for years for just such a remedy as this medical compound, KruGon," continued Mr. Wood, "My health troubles began with a stubborn case of constipation which simply would not yield to any medicine or treatment I tried. I always had that tired, sluggish feeling and it continually grew worse. I often had those attacks of dizzy spells, felt draggy and drowsy until it was actually an effort for me to get around feeling like I did. I seemed to have a strange "pulling over" feeling and it was difficult for me to straighten-up. It became difficult for me to get out of a chair I was so miserable and in my condition my outlook on life was not very bright. Finally I read in the paper about some of the local people who had found in KruGon just what they had been wanting for years. I knew several of these persons and could depend upon their word so I began its use myself."

"I did not appreciate the true value of KruGon until I had given it the opportunity of helping me," continued Mr. Wood. "This laxative--tonic formula relieved me of that stubborn case of constipation and with proper elimination soon showed rapid improvement. Those dizzy spells have ceased, eat and sleep good and enjoy good pep and energy and feel the best I have in years. KruGon is one medicine I would not be without if I could help it after all it has done for me."

KruGon is sold by McFarland and Robinson Drug Co., 104 West Main Street, Sedalia, and by leading druggists in surrounding towns.

ANOTHER BIG STAGE AND SCREEN SHOW AT THE LIBERTY TODAY

The stage attraction "Vine Street Varieties," direct from radio station WHB features an all-colored, all-star cast of 20 people in the fastest snappiest revue ever to come to Sedalia.

Janet Gaynor, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Paulette Goddard make their debut as an exciting new screen trio in David O. Selznick's comedy romance, "The Young in Heart," which begins a two-day engagement at the Liberty Theatre today.

Roland "Topper" Young, Billie Burke, Henry Stephenson, Richard Carlson, romantic newcomer from the New York stage, and Minnie Dupree head the imposing supporting cast of this screen version of the I. A. R. Wylie Saturday Evening Post serial, "The Gay Banditti."

"The Young in Heart" is the delightful story of the Carletons, a family of fascinating phonies, who live by their charm and on anyone's money, and have been kicked out of only the best places from the Riviera to London. They're out to "take" the world, but their hearts get in the way and they get the surprise of their easy-going lives.

KMBC's Biggest Stage Show! Tex Owens—Laura Lee and The Prairie Pioneers—Hiram Higsby—Bud and Spud Together At the Uptown Theater Today!

Laura Lee, "the sweetest gal this side of Heaven," and the Prairie Pioneers of KMBC, who appear in person today on the stage of the Uptown Theater. They will sing and play the songs of the range and blend in a bit of sweet sentiment and fun. The inset is Laura Lee—and from left to right in the picture are George Maras, Kenny McMains, Joe Hall and Chet Smith.

Tex Owens, the most popular cowboy singer of them all, will also be with the group—and will again sing many of the songs that have made him famous.

Hiram Higsby, radio's original rube, a comedian that takes his place with the best, will serve as master of ceremonies and probably give us a hot tune or so on his harmonica.

Bud and Spud, the two boys from the Ozarks, who are fast becoming the most popular of the younger group, will present their selection of tunes that more than pleased the audience that last heard hem here.

All of these talented people, when they appeared at the Uptown in their acts during the past several weeks, drew capacity houses, and with all of them together in one gala stage show—it is sure to be the biggest and best of them all.

First Prize In the Uptown's "Search For Talent" Show Won By Don Crenshaw of Ionia

Friday night, before a capacity house, the local entertainers went through their paces on the stage of the Uptown Theater. This event, being the first of a series of "Search for Talent" hours, seemed to more than please the audience, who took keen delight in applauding their favorites.

Don Crenshaw, of Ionia, took first place for the prize of $5.00 easily. He sang "Freight Train Blues" and had a pleasing stage personality and a way with the guitar. He will compete in about six weeks with the winners of the coming "Search for Talent" units. Nick Francis, in a comedy specialty number, imitating how a person watches the movies, placed second with a prize of $3.50. Robert Crenshaw, the younger brother of Don, took third prize with his harmonica playing. Frank McCarty, who, although handicapped by not having an accompaniest, received encores by his singing and dancing. Five little girls from Miss Fisher's school of dancing, added color to the show and were applauded by the audience. They were Winifred Ann Graham, Betty Cramer, Betty Rose, Joann Shott, and Ruth Ann Keuper. Also Jack Farthing did a swell harmonica number, and Sadie Alice Whitfield, of Dresden, sang very good, but was handicapped by lack of accompaniment.

Striped College PTA Program

The Striped College Parent-Teachers Association met at the school Friday night, February 3.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Harvey Fisher, and was opened with the singing of "America" which was led by Mrs. M. O. Stephens. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary. A poem was read by Mrs. Fisher. Plans were made for a five-cent supper to be held at the school some time soon. A study class will be held Tuesday afternoon, February 7, at the home of Mrs. S. G. Monsees.

After the business meeting the following program was given under the direction of Mrs. M. O. Stevens:

Piano duet, Cedar Brook Waltz—Mary Sue and Billy Monsees.

Recitation, The Flag—Laura Baldwin.

Vocal duet, Everyone Is In Slumberland But You and Me—Elaine and Loraine Hopkins.

Rhythm Band, Music Around

Talk, Fundamental Principles of Home Life—Mrs. Harvey Fisher.

the World—Upper grades.

Recitation, George Washington—Cecil Monsees.

Violin quartet, My First Piece—Junior Smith, Betty Hart, Loraine Hopkins, and Mary Sue Monsees.

Play, February's Birthday Cake—Lower grades.

Song, P. T. A. song—By the school.

Talk, Tribute and History of Founders Day—Mrs. Park Green.

At the close of this talk a very impressive candle lighting service was held to commemorate the forty-second anniversary of the National Congress. A cake donated by Mrs. Fisher was decorated with forty-two candles. Those taking part in the service were, Mrs. Fisher, Anna Mae Fisher, Doris Dabner, Lois Green, and Betty Hart. After this the cake was sold and the money will be used for a Founders Day gift.

Refreshments of cookies, coffee, and cocoa were served by the social committee.

In a car equipped with dual controls for use in teaching beginning drivers, one instructor mounted a chart on the dashboard with the distance required to stop a car at a certain speed.

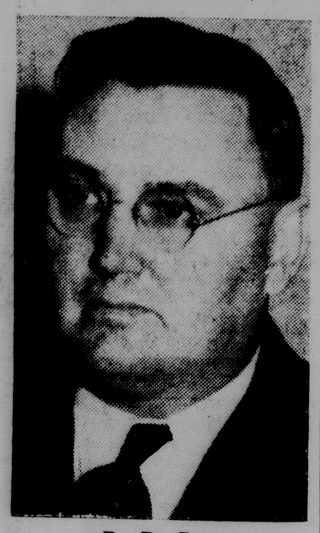
Anniversary By Bess Co.

Guest at Home Of Seiberling on Trip to Akron

B. B. Bess, manager and owner of the Bess Tire & Battery Company, 310-312 West Second street, is today announcing in a page advertisement in this paper the sixth anniversary of the opening of his business in Sedalia.

Mr. Bess returned Friday from Akron, Ohio, where he visited the Seiberling Tire & Rubber Company, from which company he buys part of his merchandise. He drove through from Kansas City with S. W. Reese, manager of the Kansas City branch of the Seiberling Rubber Company, C. C. Stephen, Stephens Auto Supply Company, Shawnee, Okla., and Mike Burns, of the Motorite Service Stations, Eldorado, Kans.



B. B. Bess

The party left Kansas City Saturday morning, February 4, spent the night in Indianapolis, and drove into Akron the next day. Monday morning they were met in the general office of the Seiberling company by Col. J. L. Cockrun, general manager for the company, F. A. Seiberling, chairman of the board and Lew Seiberling, head of the Latex division. They were given a guide who took them through the plant, covering over one hundred acres of floor space. The steps in the manufacture of tires and tubes were explained. In the Latex division they saw them making Walt Disney characters such as Ferdinand the Bull, Snow White, the Seven Dwarfs, Elmer the Elephant, Three Little Pigs, Pluto the Pup, and many other novelties. In this division they made hot water bottles, bathing caps, rubber balls, toy cars and many other things which were of unusual interest to anyone who had never seen such work before.

Seiberling Home "Show Place

An outstanding place of interest on the trip was the home of F. A. Seiberling, founder and chairman of the board of the Seiberling Tire and Rubber Co. "It is one of the show places of America," said Rev. Bess. "There are 81 rooms and 21 baths."

"The grand hall of the mansion is from a German castle which Seiberling and his wife admired during a tour of Germany. They bought it, and sent workmen from America to Germany, had the castle taken down piece by piece, shipped over here and set up exactly as it was in Germany. The music hall accomodates more than four hundred people. The Oriental rug on the floor of this room is the largest in the world, it is said. The main dining room seats seventy-five guests. In Mr. Seiberling's study are several autographed pictures of presidents who have visited there. Seven have been in the home.

"It was difficult for me," said Mr. Bess, "to comprehend a home with its own elevator system, its own hospital rooms, gymnasium, a marble swimming pool, bowling alley, and a bar with the choicest imported liquors, a built-in cigar cabinet with the world's choicest cigars, rooms with priceless tapestries and treasures, and then note the democracy of the 'Little Napoleon' of the tire industry who on his personal desk had nine pipes, five of which were corncob. A motto in Latin over the door said 'Not For Us Alone.'"

The estate begins at the edge of Akron and consists of 1,700 acres. Its sunken gardens were built by Japanese architects brought over from Japan for this purpose. He has his own fishing streams, hunting preserves and greenhouses and throughout all there is a signal system by which he may be summoned from any part of his estate.

Before leaving the estate the gentlemen were asked by Mr. Seiberling if they would have dinner with him, saying: "Gentlemen, we are going to have ham, eggs and coffee and we would be glad to have you stay." They were guests that evening for dinner and entertainment at the Portage Country club, of Col. J. L. Cockrun, who was on General Pershing's staff during the World War. Tuesday noon they lunched with Mr. Seiberling and Col. Cockrun, and that evening were dinner guests of Lew Seiberling in the Hawaiian room of the Mayflower Hotel.

Mr. Bess stated that his visit with the company officials in Akron proved to him they were the most democratic and hospitable of all the outstanding men he had ever met. Their organization is one great family, and back of the company is a tradition, back of the tradition a heritage and back of it all more than just plain business.

At an early age he affiliated with the Mt. Moriah church.

Prospects Good For Upturn Of Business In Spring

Alexander Bitterman, economist for the Communist party:

"Most disturbing immediate factor for business improvement is economy drive in congress. Public ownership of railroads and enlarged housing program would greatly improve short and long range prospects. Increased armaments as part of program for national and social security undoubtedly exercises favorable influence on business prospects."

Charles L. Stewart, University of Illinois: "Weather conditions favor 1939 farm production in middle west. Volume of crops not likely to equal 1938. Livestock and livestock products increasing."

Ragnar D. Naess, investment trust economist, "underlying trend of business upward although for next several months unlikely to exceed the high point of December."

Greater Credit Expansion

Erik T. H. Kjelstrom, Georgetown University, Washington, D. C., "Outlook for a business upswing this spring appears good with potentialties for great credit expansion provided closer cooperation and understanding can be achieved between business and government with emphasis placed upon healthy profits. Such a trend has already begun."

E. J. Berling, Vanderbilt University, Nashville: "Present indications are business will continue to improve during first half of 1939. Slight recession since first of year will continue for some six weeks longer. Underlying business conditions sound. National income for 1939 will be up 4 to 6 billion dollars over 1937. Unlikely foreign situation will upset recovery."

Lawrence Dennis, economist for a leading stock exchange firm: "The situation is in the laps of Messrs. Roosevelt, Hitler, Mussolini and Chamberlain, all of which does not make me bullish for 1939."

A. C. Whitaker Leland Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal.: "I believe there will be continuing improvement in business during the coming spring and that 1939 will show a substantial recovery."

Fritz Lehmann, New School for Social Research, New York, "Rising armament expenditures and increase of building activity will offset effect of partial reduction in WPA outlays and will cause a moderate revival of business in late spring and early summer."

Roy Wenzlick, National Association of Real Estate Boards: "Total residential building for 1939 will exceed last year by more than 40 per cent. The effect on general business seems most optimistic element in the general outlook."

"G. W. Forster. University of North Carolina: "The present level of business activity should be maintained in the next twelve months through government spending. International outlook dark."

B. H. Beckhart, Columbia University: "Barring a European war. indices of business activity will probably continue at approximately present levels through spring, thereafter, lifted by increased construction activity and automobile construction, will rise steadly to the year's end."

Ernest Minor Paterson, University of Pennsylvania: "Prospects for a spring business recovery are good. A longer view is less encouraging. If a prolonged rise of prices is ahead business activity may well continue for many months but with an extremely serious reaction at some later date."

E. W. Kemmerer, Princeton University: "No hope of sound and enduring recovery unless and until people who own capital and industrial and business leaders, upon whose initiative we must chiefly depend for a strong forward movement, regain confidence in the future."

Letter Carriers To Meet Monday

The Letter Carriers Association met Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brummitt, 1700 South Missouri avenue. After the business was transacted the remainder of the evening was spent in games.

Intensified action followed explosions yesterday in two of Londons subway centers in which seven persons were injured.

Two incidents today, one in Torquay on England's south coast and one in Slough, sent Scotland Yard experts rushing out of London in the belief the terrorists had struck again.

An explosion wrecked the headquarters of the Torquay Conservative Club, in Devonshire, but it appeared to be due to accidental ignition of gas.

Car Crashes Into Front of Building

About $15 damage was done to a Model A. Ford truck driven by Robert Burlingame and the door of the Suter Plumbing shop was damaged about 6:30 o'clock Friday evening when the truck ran into the front of the building.

Burlingame was driving east on Second street when he apparently lost control of the truck, the truck jumping the curb and running into the door at the front of the building.

E. A Brockman, 1522 Ingram is the owner of the truck. Officer E. Young investigated the accident.

Brings Back An Immense Lemon

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Miller, 208 South Washington avenue, have returned home from a vacation trip to the State of California where they visited with Mrs. Miller's aunt, Mrs. Ida Souders, a former Missourian, and her cousin, Mrs. Charles Shrouas.

While in California they stopped at the home of Mrs. Shrouas, wife of Charles Shrouas, president of the Fox Theatres Inc.

At the Shrouas home Mrs. Miller picked some lemons from a fruit orchard. On the tree from which she obtained the lemons, they grew to a size of one and three-fourths pounds, and were as many as three in a cluster. One of the lemons is on display in the Democrat-Capital office.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller went to California through Denver, Salt Lake City, Boulder Dam, and returned home the southern route.

Judge Thomas Would Return

NEW YORK, Feb. 4 (AP)—A radiogram went out from the Department of Justice today to Federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas of Connecticut, South America-bound on the Grace liner Santa Barbara, ordering his "immediate return" to the United States for questioning before two federal grand juries.

Judge Thomas sailed late yesterday and missed the serving of a subpoena issued by U. S. Attorney Gregory Noonan. Noonan wirelessed the master of the vessel and requested the jurist to disembark with the pilot. Nearly three hours later he received a reply that the judge was continuing his journey.

could be reconciled with the impression they took away from Tuesday's meeting.

Some of the committeemen had suggested that, to clear up the matter, a stenographic record of what the President had said be made public. They said they understood one had been made.

No Record Kept

However, Stephen Early, White House press secretary, said today no record was kept. He added it was contrary to White House practice to keep stenographic records of any conference of the kind.

PROTECT YOURSELF WITH THIS REMARKABLE NEW

SAFETY TIRE

MADE BY SEIBERLING

Built Entirely on New Safety Principles!

1 The "Saw-Tooth" Tread with its extra sharp teeth grabs the road instantly—gives quicker, safer stops in any weather! Keeps on doing it month after month because those "saw-teeth" go right to the bottom of the tread. Here's skid protection your customers can SEE.

2 "Heat-Vents" reduce blowout hazard — boost mileage. Patented vents open and close under the weight of the car—force hot air out, suck cool air into the heart of the tire. No other tire can give you this big sales advantage.

3 "Saf-Flex" cord reduces internal friction—stays tough and springy for the entire life of the tire! The same cord that's helping Seiberling's Truck Tires roll up such phenomenal mileage records on high speed, cross country runs. Superior to synthetic cords because it's unaffected by moisture.

4 "Cushion Ride"—the patented heat vents and the resilient carcass of the Saf-flex cord combine to produce a remarkably easy ride. So unusual are these riding qualities that a car-owner can feel the difference immediately.

Warning To All Motorists! ... Dangerous Criminal at Large

The assassin of the highways old "Baldy The Slick" (Smooth Tires), can turn any car into a mass of twisted steel quicker than a bolt of lightning.. This time of year he strikes with such savage speed that even the best of drivers are powerless to stop him. Protect yourself, your family and your car . . . remove the "Baldys" (smoth tires) from your wheels NOW! Don't wait until a car-wrecking skid makes you wish you had.

Buyer's Income For Control Of Home Buying

Heavy Monthly Payments Discouraged By The FHA

In buying a home under the Federal Housing Administration Insured Mortgage Plan, the first step is to decide how much one can afford to invest, according to FHA officials.

Generally speaking, a home buyer's income should be at least four or five times the amount of the monthly loan payment. In other words the total home investment should not be more than two or two and one-half times the borrower's annual income.

Decision as to the type of home best suited to the buyer's needs is the next step in the procedure. Careful thought should be given on the number of rooms required, location, etc. FHA officials point out that consultation with a local architect, builder, or real estate firm is a wise step at this juncture. Practical suggestions which will help clarify the individual's ideas will be forthcoming.

The borrower, after a rough plan and a tentative estimate are prepared, should then apply for a Federal Housing Administration Insured mortgage at any approved lending institution. Such institutions are located in every state in the union and in most commuities.

Federal Housing Administration officials point out that the amount of the loan sought, repayment period, charges, and other specific details of the transaction are matters which are arranged between the borrower and the lender, but the lender must be guided by FHA limits. Top interest charges are 5 per cent, plus one-fourth or one-half of 1 per cent for the annual mortgage-insurance premium.

The down payment does not necessarily have to be paid in cash. FHA officials say. A building lot may be accepted as all or part of the down payment.

At the time the loan is made the borrower will be asked to provide funds for the first year's taxes, assessments, and fire insurance. This is somewhat sooner than in the case of an ordinary loan, but the borrower gains the satisfaction of knowing that all bills in connection with the property are paid up to date and insurance written for at least a year in advance. when actual payments begin on the FHA-insured loan.

The Federal Housing Administration, Under 1938 Legislation, Insures

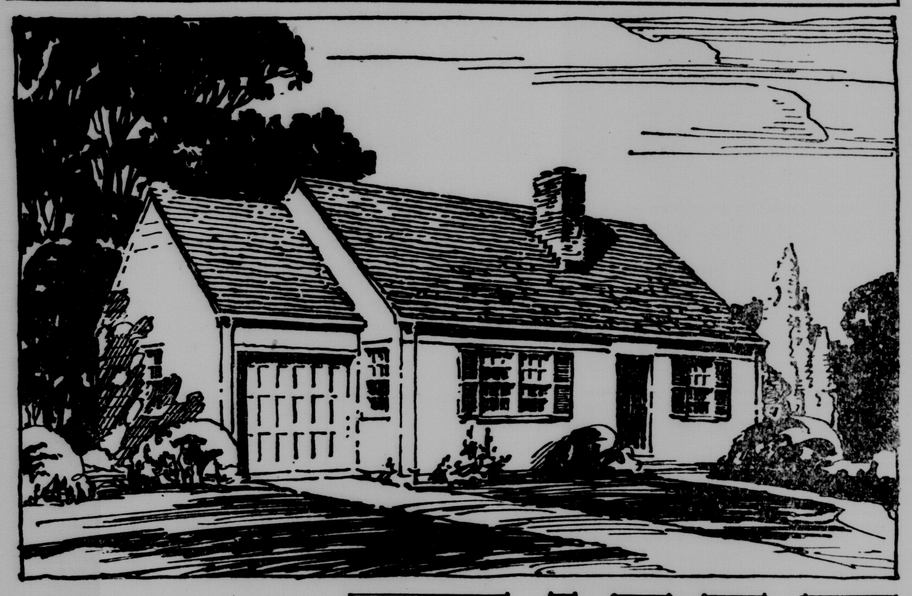
- ELIGIBLE MORTGAGES: Up to 80% of the appraised value of the property.
- INTEREST: Up to 5%. When projects comply with certain conditions, the maximum is 4½%.

*There are two categories into which these projects may fall—one limited to mortgages of $200,000 on which the maximum interest rate of 5% applies. The other, subject to different procedure and regulation by the FHA, is limited to mortgages of $5,000,000 on which the 4½% interest rate applies. Both have certain advantages to offer.

Ideal For Small Family



This well-planned 1½-story frame structure was recently completed in a New York State community with the aid of a $5,600 mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. The home has dignity and charm. Cross-ventilation is afforded in the arrangement. A further attraction is ready access from both the bedrooms and living rooms to the bathroom without the necessity of passing through other rooms.

WIFE SAVER!

And what man wouldn't pay the small sum of
FORTY-FOUR CENTS A DAY
to relieve his wife of the drudgery of firing a furnace? To say nothing of the drudgery he would avoid himself!

And that's all it cost to heat this home with NATURAL GAS during the 1937-38 heating season, as proved by the following actual monthly gas bills:

1937

October	$ 7.50
November	15.25
December	24.35

1938

January	$25.70
February	21.00
March	15.10
April	13.40
May	7.10
Total	$129.40
Less for cooking and water heating	$21.68
leaves	$107.72
or an average monthly cost of only	$13.46
or an average daily cost of only	.44

And in addition to being a "wife saver" in this way, it also helps her to keep her house cleaner, have more time for pleasure, and give her a more convenient method of heating her home.

Why not let us figure on some type of "wife saver" for your home? Over three hundred Sedalia homes—both large and small—are now being heated with this PERFECT FUEL.

Nuptials At O'Bannon Home Today

Miss Stanley Will Marry Little Rock Resident Saturday

Before an altar of palms, intermingled with tall standards bearing white tapers in the living room of her home, 909 West Sixth street, Miss Virginia O'Bannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen O'Bannon, will become the bride of Charles J. Goodknight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Goodknight, 1214 South Kentucky avenue, this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The bride's attendant will be her sister, Miss Martha O'Bannon, and Mr. Goodknight will be attended by Mr. Clinton Bohon. The bridal party will enter the living room from the stairway as Mrs. Fred Van Arsdale plays Mendelssohn's Wedding March at the piano.

Rev. A. W. Kokendoffer, pastor of the First Christian church will read the nuptials.

The bride will wear an aqua street-length dress of light weight wool, with japonict accessories. Her corsage will be sunburst roses. Her sister's dress will be of navy blue and her accessories black. She will wear a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the O'Bannon home for the immediate relatives and close friends attending the wedding.

A three-tier wedding cake will be in the center of the dining table, with vases of flowers arranged at each side. A bowl of flowers framed with lighted candles will decorate the buffet.

Out-of-town guests will be Misses Frankie and Margaret Ragsdale, of Joplin, sisters of Mrs. O'Bannon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ewers, of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gates, of Clinton and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Meierotto, of Kansas City. Mrs. Gates and Mrs. Meierotto are sisters of the bridegroom. Mr. Bohon, the best man, and Mrs. Bohon, also a guest at the wedding, are former Sedalians, now residing in Manhattan, Kans.

After the reception the young couple will leave on a short wedding trip. Miss O'Bannon's going-away costume will be a dark green knit suit, worn with japonica accessories and a muskrat coat.

Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Goodknight will be at home at the Harrison apartments, 700 West Third street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Farley, 1605 West Ninth street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Ethel Farley, to Mr. Carl Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Johnson, route 6, Sedalia.

The marriage took place at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, February 4, in Clinton, Mo., Rev. G. C. Greenway, pastor of the First Baptist church in Clinton, performing the ceremony.

The bride wore a three-piece suit of beige Duplan American Eponge, with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of roses.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are graduates of Smith-Cotton high school in the class of 1933. Mrs. Johnson, nee Miss Farley, is employed as cashier of the Public Loan Corporation. Mr. Johnson is associated with his father in the dairy business.

The couple will reside temporarily at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Mrs. Elizabeth O'Bannon Wilkerson, 318 East Fourteenth street, and Mr. Paul B. Rankin, of Orrick, Mo., were married at 11 o'clock Saturday morning by the Rev. J. C. English, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church South, at his home, 315 West Fourth street.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Allen O'Bannon, Mrs. Grace Dillard and Miss Mary O'Bannon.

After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Rankin will return to Orrick, where they will reside.

Miss Dorothy Suter entertained at her home, 1842 South Barrett avenue, with a luncheon-shower Saturday afternoon, complimenting Miss Frances Stanley, whose marriage to Dale McGregor of Little Rock, Ark., will take place this week.

Miss Stanley received many lovely pieces of linen, the affair being a linen shower.

Miss Suter's guests were, Mrs. Frank Wagner, Mrs. Lee Farley, Mrs. R. H. Parks, Mrs. Harold Yunker, Miss Louise Koerper, Miss Gertrude Melton.

Miss Gertrude Melton, of Jefferson City, was hostess at a miscellaneous shower-bridge party, honoring Miss Stanley, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Ernest Melton, 323 West Fifth street, Saturday night.

The bridal white motif was used in the attractive decorations. White flowers were arranged throughout the house, and a centerpiece of white roses in a silver basket adorned the dining table. The cloth was of white lace.

The hostess presented the bride-to-be with a white shower bouquet, and on the streamers were small cards containing poems which directed Miss Stanley to the places where her gifts were hidden.

Refreshments were served at the card tables late in the evening. Miss Melton was assisted in entertaining by her mother, and by Mrs. W. A. Harbaugh.

The guests were Miss Stanley, Miss Dorothy Suter, Miss Mildred Courtney, Miss Julia Knight, Mrs. Harry Walch, Mrs. Harold Yunker, Mrs. Larry Brill, Mrs. R. H. Parks, and Mrs. W. O. Stanley, mother of the prospective bride.

Mrs. R. H. Parks on Tuesday night will entertain, complimentary to Miss Stanley, with an 8 o'clock bridge party at her home, 1215 South Barrett avenue.

In the Country club duplicate bridge tournament, finished Thursday afternoon, Mrs. E. F. Yancey and Mrs. Frank Monroe were tournament winners for north and south, and Mrs. Chester Wright and Mrs. David Carter for east and west.

High scorers in the final game were Mrs. Heber U. Hunt and Mrs. D. P. Dyer, who substituted for Miss Marian Phipps, in the north and south division, and Mrs. J. C. Griffin and Mrs. Larry Brill for east and west.

The concluding game preceded by a luncheon Thursday completed the social activities at the Country club arranged by the social committee serving for the months of December and January. Mrs. Dyer headed the committee.

Mrs. Joe Quinn will serve as chairman of the social committee for the months of February and March. Her committee members will be Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Henry R. Club Observes Its Silver Anniversary

"Twenty-five years ago is a long long time,
To weave into meter and lore and rhyme,
So I'll try and convince in a verse or two
The thought and the scheme I would bring to you
The Nautilus club in that far off day
Was a problem child, in a great big way
But the babe grew up as babes will do
Nurtured in Faith, when the club was new
What patience, what care, in those twenty-five years,
Since the babe was born, in a world of tears.
Now that troublesome waif is a woman grown
With a sizeable family, all her own
But the Nautilus club retains her youth
And her early precepts of love and truth
And true to her standards her dauntless smile
We're proud to be one of the club worth while."

The Nautilus club of La Monte for twenty-five years has been meeting for study, book reviews, music and many other timely topics.

At a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Sam Smith Thursday the club observed its twenty-fifth anniversary, and seven charter members, with their president, occupied the places of honor. They presented interesting reminisences of the programs of the year. The first backward look was a "Style Show" of five years ago, by Mrs. Terry.

To place music in the school an operetta was prepared, "The Nautical Knot," told of by Mrs. Harris. At the age of two the club put on an "Art Exhibit" with copies of the old masters and living pictures, by Mrs. Walker. "First experiences at a state convention in St. Louis," Miss Harris. A six year old birthday party in the form of a district school, Mrs. Rhoads. A lecture course that was lost, Mrs. Parker. The first convention entertained, Miss Walker.

The members enjoyed hearing of the olden days with the fun and mistakes that accompany such gatherings, the entire program directed by Mrs. W. E. Walker.

The club voted to give the Boy Scouts $25 and also to sponsor a Girl Scout movement in the community.

St. Valentine Motif At The Garden Club

Garden Club Circle No. 2 held its regular meeting last Tuesday at the home of Mrs. C. R. Bothwell, 726 West Seventh street. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. Landon Welch and Mrs. Percy Metcalf.

A one o'clock dessert luncheon was served, with the St. Valentine's Day motif being carried out.

The president, Mrs. Lon Leslie, presided over the business meeting, and asked for a report of all the standing committees for the year 1939.

Miss Christine Landmann, assistant chairman of the program for the month, introduced Miss Sarah Yarnell, who made an interesting and informative talk on "Planting Gardens for Color."

This division of gardening is divided into two general sections, those of retiring and advancing colors. Miss Yarnell said that in grouping the two the gardener could achieve restful and harmonious effects all summer. The retiring colors, she said, should be placed in the background and the advancing colors in front.

Mrs. A. A. Ferguson was then presented and she made a very pleasing talk on pottery. She had an unusual display of pottery which she had collected from many states.

Mrs. Ferguson had charge of the circle's attractive display of pottery flower containers. One piece in the exhibit was a vase from Holland that is 150 years old, and is now owned by Mrs. Frank Armstrong. Another vase displayed, one owned by Mrs. Henry C. Salveter, came from Italy.

In the awarding of the ribbons, first place went to Mrs. Ray Hunt, second to Mrs. John Blake and third to Mrs. Ferguson.

Mrs. Tom Aulgur was hostess to Sedalia Garden Club Circle No. 5 at its meeting Friday afternoon. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. C. D. Demand and Mrs. Henry Dickman. Mrs. C. L. Carter, president of the Sedalia Garden club, was a special guest.

After a dessert luncheon, Mrs. J. N. Keens, the chairman, conducted the business session. Two new members, Mrs. Charles Solon and Mrs. Leroy Whitaker, were added to the roll.

Mrs. A. A. Halter was in charge of the afternoon program. The outstanding achievement in county and roadside beautification in St. Francois county was described by Mrs. H. A. Wade. This county ranks among the first in the state in roadside improvement.

Mrs. Carter spoke on civic beautification, mentioning various towns that have improved and beautified the highway approach. She stated that Missouri was well in front of other states in beautifying highways and dressing up vacant lots.

Mrs. A. H. Bratten and Mrs. Demand sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow."

After the program a beautiful display of flower containers, both modern and antique, was judged by Mrs. Carter, and awards were received by Mrs. Keens, Mrs. Aulgur and Mrs. S. O. Brill.

The next meeting of the circle will be held in March at the home of Mrs. W. R. Sterling .

Members of the Junior Garden club were entertained with a Valentine party by the Senior Garden club committee at the home of Mrs. C. L. Carter, 700 South Beacon avenue, Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. L. J. May is the junior counselor, with Mrs. H. C. Sammons, Mrs. C. K. Parsons, Mrs. E. H. Hildebrandt, Mrs. O. B. Decker, Mrs. Carter, the Garden club president, and Mrs. H. E. Prewitt, representatives from each circle, assisting.

Twelve members of the Junior club attended the party, and they played various Valentine games. Awards in the games were received by June Decker, Mildred Hammers, Elleta Wheeler and Lelia Jane Purvis.

Mrs. E. L. Pulliam and Mrs. G. W. Chambers were guests who also assisted in entertaining the junior members.

Circle No. 6 of the Garden club will meet promptly at one o'clock, Friday, February 10, at the home of Mrs. E. A. Heerman, 1108 South Sneed avenue.

Mrs. T. E. Gasperson and Mrs. W. A. Harbaugh will be the assisting hostesses.

Members are asked to bring their favorite glass containers and to remember the monthly exchange.

The Garden club board will meet at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the library. Business of importance is to be taken up.

•Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. What kind of hat does the bridegroom wear to a formal evening wedding?

2. What kind of hat does he wear to a formal daytime wedding.

3. May the men in the wedding party wear business suits if the bride wears a white evening gown.

4. Who furnishes the boutonniers that the best man and ushers wear?

5. Does a bridegroom give his best man and ushers some gift as a remembrance of the occasion?

What would you do if—

You are a man about to be married—

(a) Give the bride a gift of something personal — like a pin that she can wear on her bridal gown?

(b) Give her an impersonal gift—like something for the new house?

(c) Don't give her a wedding gift?

Answers

1. Silk top hat.
2. Silk top hat.
3. No.
4. The bridegroom.
5. Yes.

Millionaire Cattle King

Major Andrew Drumm, millionaire cattle king of the Southwest, roamed his thousands of cattle over the plains of Kansas and Oklahoma before the fencing and plowing up of the cattle country was begun by homesteaders in the late 1880's. Only then did he withdraw from the range to engage in the commission business and the lending of money to cattle men.

Major Drumm was born in Zanesville, Ohio, on February 6, 1828, one hundred and eleven years ago this week. While still a young man he crossed the Isthmus of Panama with a company of forty-miners and took passage to California on the "Tennessee," said to have been the first steam passenger boat to round the Horn.

He soon returned from California, but in a few years crossed the western plains and mountains to establish a ranch on government lands in Tulare Valley. Here he specialized in raising hogs, becoming noted for handling more hogs than any other man in California at that time. Usually the hogs were fattened on acorns, but occasionally large droves of as many as 2,500 were driven to the farming district near Sacramento and fattened on barley. Drumm finally sold his ranch and moved to San Francisco, where he engaged in the business of slaughtering hogs.

Major Drumm left California about 1870, and went to southern Texas. Here he purchased a herd of cattle and trailed them north, about 1,200 miles, to Sumner County, Kansas, where, on Bluff creek west of Caldwell, he laid the foundation for his fortune. From this small herd of a few hundred cattle his business expanded until he owned as many as 40,000 cattle at one time and branded as many as 7,500 calves during a season. Major Drumm, said to have been the first man to turn his cattle lose in the Cherokee Strip, operated ranches in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, California, Missouri, New Mexico, and Arizona. For many years he trailed large herds for hundreds of miles to Abilene and Coffeyville, Kansas. As the railroads were extended he shipped from Wichita, Caldwell, Hunnewell, Harper and Kiowa.

Major Drumm came to Kansas City in 1874, but it was not until the 1880's that he opened a livestock commission business and began lending money to cattle men. The Drumm Commission Company did business at the Kansas City stock yards, the union stock yards in Chicago, and the national stock yards in East St. Louis. Drumm was interested in several banks, including the American National Bank of Kansas City and the Bank of Kiowa, Kansas. He was president of the latter from 1884-1919.

Drumm accumulated a fortune of $2,000,000 and was, for a number of years before his death, the largest individual personal tax payer in Kansas City. For forty years he worked to develop the live stock industry in the territory tributary to Missouri's second largest city. Personally and through the Drumm Commission Company he annually lent the cattle men of the southwest from eight to twelve million dollars.

Always interested in boys, Drumm shortly before his death purchased a 370 acre farm two and one-half miles southeast of Independence, Missouri, and founded the "Andrew Drumm Institute."

Although he made numerous contributions to various charitable and civic undertakings he made this home his monumental philanthropic work, bequeathing to it $1,800,000. He died at San Antonio, Texas, on April 14, 1919.

DR. STORK JUST WON'T TAKE DICTATION FROM MOTHERS

Disappointment is due a woman Set on Certain 'Type" of Baby

The expected baby was to be a girl. On that Mrs. Jones had set her heart. She was to be a beautiful child, naturally, but also she was to be a cute little elf. The kind of baby-doll one could dress up in swansdown and silks, and who would wear number three shoes when she grew up.

The baby was a girl. A fine, "bouncing" and very red chunk of girl. Before she left the hospital it was all the nurse could do to keep a good hold on her, for she could kick herself out of anyone's arms in a second

Time passed and little Mary Smith showed no improvement, according to her mother. She refused to be dainty. She was strong, yelled powerfully and had hair as straight and black as an Indian's. Where, oh where, were the lustrous golden curls that belonged on a Titania?

But the worst of all was her very powerful way of doing what she wanted when she wanted and exactly how. She wouldn't play with girls, either. She wanted to play with boys most of the time. She could wrestle and punch with the best of them.

Not only this, but her mother nursed her grief. She lost interest in trying to dress Mary nicely. "What is the use?" she would say, "when she doesn't look decent in anything?"

Not only this, but her mother lost interest in Mary herself. She would have been such a grand mother to her dream child, but here was a changeling entirely foreign to her hopes. She could not understand this child, with her strong will and independence. She longed for a sweet little girl who would "Yes, mother," her and do her credit, as she thought.

Mary and her father got along better. But even he, with an unbendable force of his own, clashed with the child constantly. He wanted his offspring to bow to his will. That was too bad,, for it seems that neither parent was trying to deal with what they had but what they wished for. Still, Mary and her father had some sympathy for each other.

More time passed. Mary grew and grew. She stopped at five feet seven. This was blow added to blow. The fact that she was tops at baskektball didn't matter. It was all the worse. She was a good all-around athlete, but her family took little interest in her victories.

Still Independent

By this time she was as independent as a Polar expedition. She knew instinctively that she had never had a real place in her parents' hearts. She felt lonely at times, but she was too young to be bitter. She took a course and went to work. Mary made good and married a fine man.

She was very beautiful now. Her mother is terribly proud. But Mary seldom goes home. She can afford a monthly check to her parents, who need it now, but that is the limit of her attention. They blame their daughter . Do you?

Cold Weather Requires Careful Treatment of the Skin

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

In winter the ice, the cold and exposure to snow and rain are likely to produce severe effects on skins not properly protected. The least of the disturbances is a redness of nose. The color scheme is aided by those people who turn blue with cold.

The commonest complaint is chapping or roughness of the skin, and perhaps the most serious next to frost is the chilblain.

Dry skins are usually those which are called "fine." In the dry skin the fat content is little. Furthermore, there is little perspiration on the dry skin because the glands are smaller and less in amount.

The obvious answer to the bad effects of cold on the dry skin is protection of the skin by the use of suitable fats. It is not possible to protect the skin by taking large amounts of fat internally because the difficulty lies with the glands that are in the skin and not with the fat that is in the skin. Therefore, the dry skin is supplied with fat by the use of creams.

People with a dry skin must also avoid the use of alccholic and astringent lotions which will quite certainly increase the dryness. The powders, lotions and creams used on a dry skin must, of course, be chosen individually.

People whose lips chap and become rough may prevent this condition by applying a suitable grease or an oily lipstick to the lips before exposing them to the cold. A bad habit is to bite chapped lips and pull away small portions. of skin. This results in small wounds which become crusted and offer the possibility of infection.

Argentina—a Rising World Power

VAST, sprawling Argentina is growing at a tremendous pace these days. Her fertile pampas are capable of supporting a population many times the 12,560,000 now occupying the 1,078,000 square miles of territory. Exploitation of her silver, copper, gold and petroleum has just begun on a major scale. The indications are that Argentina will become one of the leading nations of the world within a very few years.

Consider, for instance, the size of the republic. Argentina extends from Bolivia 2300 miles to Cape Horn and from the ridge of the Andes to the South Atlantic, occupying the greater part of southern South America. It is 930 miles wide at some points. Its area is about equal to that of the 11 mountain and Pacific states of the United States.

Great plains stretch east of the Andes, heavily wooded. To the south these same plains are treeless and constitute the cattle raising and agricultural country of the Argentine. This rich pampas region is roughly the size of Missouri, Kansas and Iowa. From it are produced sufficient livestock to supply the world's greatest refrigerating plant located in Buenos Aires. It has a daily capacity of 5000 cattle and 10,000 sheep.

Gold, silver, copper are yet to be developed in the mountains of the Argentine. Petroleum is exploited by the government and private companies. The greatest wells so far developed are in the Comodoro Rivadavia region. An oil well is shown here on a 1936 Argentine stamp, one of a series.

Youth's Crusade Rally On Feb. 8

The General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which was held last May voted to emphasize their work with young people for the next four years in what they called "The Youth's Crusade." The month of February has been designated as the month when the movement would be launched.

This is a church wide movement which is carried out through the various districts of the church. The first rally to be held in the Sedalia district under the leadership of Rev. L. M. Starkey, presiding elder, and Rev. C. E. Sullens, district director of young people's work in the district, will be in the Methodist church, South, Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Four or five hundred young people are expected from the churches as far east as California; as far west as Harrisonville; as far south as Warsaw; and as far north as Sweet Springs. The leaders have an interesting program arranged with young people taking the parts.

Rev. Edwin R. Hartz

The speakers for the evening will be Rev. Edwin R. Hartz, pastor of the Institutional church, Kansas City, Missouri. Rev. Hartz is a graduate of Duke University and has had wide experience in work with young people. He is a member of of the Pi Gamma Mu, National Social Science Honor Art Society.

Dr. Rolla S. Kenaston

The inspirational speaker will be Dr. Rolla S. Kenaston, pastor of Central Methodist church, Kansas City, Missouri. Dr. Kenaston is a popular speaker in young people's conferences. Young people will be helped greatly in planning their program for Christian living during the youth crusade in every local church.

Young people of the churches in Sedalia are invited to have a part in this young people's rally Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Exaltation In Religious Experience

Text: Acts 2:12-18, 36-41

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The new-found hope and faith that animated the disciples, as they discovered that their crucified Lord was not dead but risen, attained its climax as they were gathered together on the day of Pentecost.

Just how so large a company of people happened to be gathered together is not made clear, especially as many of the company apparently were not Christian disciples. Some had gathered out of curiosity or even with a spirit of hostility, and when the strange manifestations of speaking in tongues and other incidents that have often marked highly emotionalized religious experience occurred, they were inclined to scoff and to suggest that those so emotionally aroused were drunk.

But Peter met the charge very squarely, and in his great sermon so brought home to the consciences of his hearers their responsibility for the rejection and crucifixion of Jesus that many of them turned to the new way of faith with repentance and sincerity.

One recalls, as we now have it in the New Testament, a later admonition of Paul to the early Christians—"Be not drunk with wine, wherein is excess, but be filled with the Spirit.' The filling of man's soul with the Spirit of God brings a great experience of exaltation.

In some respects we may view these extreme manifestations of emotion on the day at Pentecost in much the same way that we would view such manifestations as they have occurred frequently in connection with religious revivals or in religious services where the emotional element has been strongly emphasized.

But the important thing about Pentecost, in contrast with some of these other occasions, is that beneath all this emotional excitement was a deep and sound moral and spiritual realism.

There is no value in religious emotionalism that is not either the expression, or the result of sound morality and spiritual awakening. In fact, it becomes a real menace to true religion when such experiences are exalted to the neglect or disregard of the essentials of Christian truth and of Christian living.

Through the ages the church has been more ready to emphasize and emulate the excesses of emotion at Pentecost than to repeat in its life the deep realities of devotion and turning to God. Both the church and the modern world need the reproduction of Pentecost, but it is the Pentecost of deep and thoroughgoing religious experience.

Power from on high is as realizable and effective an experience for Christians today as it was for those assembled on the day of Pentecost.

Schedule of Miss Guy, Public Health Nurse

The schedule of Miss Elizabeth Guy, public health nurse, for the week follows:

Monday, Sedalia; Tuesday, Green Ridge school; Wednesday, Houstonia; Thursday, La Monte in morning, Sedalia in afternoon attending meeting of child development chairmen of Homemakers clubs; Friday, Sedalia, syphilis clinic in afternoon; Saturday morning in office at the court house.

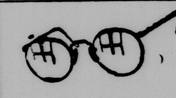
All Day Meeting By Mission Society

The Missionary Society of the Dresden M. E. church met in an all day meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Painter, with fifty members and guests present.

At the noon hour a bountiful dinner was served. During the afternoon the devotional services were held, those taking part being, Mrs. George Farris, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. H. A. Wilson, Mrs. George Fichter, Mrs. Charles Domig. and Rev. Walter Sullins.

The business of the society, pledges for the coming year, and the flower fund were all taken care of.

The installment plan was first used for the purchase of automobiles in 1904. Previous to that time, it was necessary to have cash on hand to buy a car.



There is always a chance for an improvement in your eyes even though you may not think there is. Have them checked for a safety precaution.
